Returns so far received, according to reputican estimate, indicate the election of Gov. Rice by a good majority.

The election of Banks, Republican, in the Fifth Congressional District; of Butler, Republican, in the Seventh District; Crapo, Republican, in the First; Harris, Republican, in the Second; Field, Republican, in the Third; Claffin, Republican, in the Eighth; Norcross, Republican, in the Tenth.

The other Congressional Districts are doubtful and the above results may be changed by later returns.

Boston, Nov. 7.—Returns indicate a very heavy vote! One hundred and twenty-three towns give Hayes 51,494; Tilden, 31,601; Rice, 47,408; Adams, 30,369; Baker, 4,578; Butler in the Seventh District, Banks in the First, Robinson in the Eleventh, Rice in the Ninth, and Norcross in the Tenth, are elected to Congress, all Republicans.

Special Dispatch to The Tribuns.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 7.—Crowds that can be numbered only by the tens of thousands surround the newspaper offices on Fourth street and on Vine street that give returns with calcium lights. The most intense anxiety and feeling prevail. The crowds shout for their candidates, and the vast roar of their voices fills the air. Returns from all parts of this State are favorable to the idea that the Republican majority in Ohio is at least 10,000. In this city and county the Republicans gained largely over the October election, and, from present indications, have carried the county by a small majority. The election here to-day was bloodless. The Republicans stood up to the work with great spirit. Extensive preparations had been made in fear of a riot, but things passed off very pleasantly.

He Remember that you get an Abstract FREE with all property purchased of me, and also save commissions, as I deal in nothing but my own property, and SHOW IT FREE. New York, Nov. 7.—The day here was of the most quiet character, as the night here is of the noisiest. In the early morning there was a heavy rain, which wore off into a drizzly and persistent one, making poll work by no means agreeable work, and repressing out-door displays of enthusiasm. The voting was done unusually early, especially on the part of the Republicans, who were either afraid the storm would increase, or resolved to escape any poswould increase, or resolved to escape any pos-sible disturbance by getting out of the way be-fore the time of it. The excitement at the polling-places was nothing to what it is in those local conjects where Tammany and anti-Tammany are opposed to each other, which brings "the boys" into direct antagonism. To-day the police were not only on hand with rigid instructions to preserve order, but the Marshals and their assistants had a good effect in the way of preventing disturbance, as well as fraudulent voting. A large number of arrests were made voting. A large number of arrests were made where there was suspicion, or where the number of residence given did not agree with that on the registry. The arrested were taken in squads to the United States District Court, where they were examined by the Chief Supervisor of Election, John I. Davenport, and representatives of Tammany Hall. Most of them were promptly discharged, it being proved that they were not intending fraud. Many, nowever, were held in the sum of $1.000 for trial and were held in the sum of $1,000 for trial, and others who were let go were not allowed to

BUSINESS WAS ALMOST ENTIRELY SUSPENDED during the day. Never before, it is estimated, were there so many persons employed in elec-tion work on the streets. Among those offer-ing tickets near the booths were large numbers of colored men who took uncommon interest in that business. The law ordering the closing of aloons and liquor stores was little heeded, and the result was a large number of drunks in the

had ticket agents at nearly all the pollingplaces. These had no trouble in supplying the lemand, which was not brisk.

The Republican headquarters at the Fifth Av-enue Hotel were crowded all day, and are the scene of intense excitement to-night, a calcium-light bulletin having been arranged outside for the benefit of the throng in Madison Square. The rooms of the National Committee were vis-ited by prominent citizens, anxious to learn what the news was from other States, and to exchange notes about the progress of the work in this city. AT THE EVERETT HOUSE HEADQUARTERS there were many visitors; Gov. Tilden was among the number. He came early, and was for several hours in the room at the right of for several hours in the room at the right of the entrance to the hotel consulting with Ed-ward Cooper, Mayor Wickham, and many other local politicians. He received several dispatches from the interior of the State reporting the course of the election and the condition of the weather. He appeared to be in good spirits, but listened with great eagerness to every new dispatch. Crowds of persons were anxious to be admitted to his room, but they were almost in-variably excluded with the remark that the Governor was very busily engaged. Governor was very busily engaged. ELECTION-NIGHT is the great time in New York, which is now literally a city of bonfires. Whatever the result, the boys burn barrels just the same. The scene the boys burn barrels just the same. The scene of scenes, however, is to be found about the bulletins in Newspaper Row and in Madison and Union Squares. Despite the steady rainfall thousands of men crowd these points, greeting each new announcement with cheers, and jeers, and howls intermingled. All the enthusiasm would seem to have been pent up during the day to burst out in fuller volume over the results. One of the results not rollitical is the Slightly Damaged by Water, At the late fire of Hall, Garrison & Co., New York, $30,000 worth of Men's and Boys' Fine Clothing, to be sold at Appraiser's value, which is 50 per cent below first cost. Sale to continue from day to day until closed, at sults. One of the results not political is the consumption of simply enormous quantities of whisky. A large proportion of Democratic Gotham will alcep the sleep of the drunk tomorrow.

New York City gives Tilden 58,000 odd majority. Kings County adds to this 16,000 more, making a total of 69,000 in New York and

PRESIDENT GRANT AND THE SOUTH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—President Grant, in an interview relative to the presence of troops in some of the Southern States, says that it must be remembered that under their instructions the troops cannot interfere with any of the rights of the citizens; that they are simply to be called on to protect all alike, without regard to party or political action. Those who are quiet and law-abiding citizens have nothing to fear in the way of interference, from either the officers or men, for both are well-known to be practically indifferent to the course which po-

Twelve towns of Erie County heard from show liberal Republican gains. The county is safe for 1,000 Republican majority; expected, 2,500. The vote on Congress is close. It is feared Lockwood, Democrat, is elected over Spaulding, Republican. Judge Haight is undoubtedly elected to the Supreme Court in the Western District.

Tilden, Tammany, and the THE NEW ENGLAND STATES.

Special Dispotch to The Tribuna.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A special to the Times from H. T. Sperry, Chairman of the State Republican Committee of Connecticut, says in 180 town the Republicans have 120 majority, with New Haven yet to hear from. The Senate and House so far as heard from are Republican. Kellogg, Republican candidate for Congress in the Second District, is undoubtedly defeated. Later returns make the election of Landers, Democratic candidate for Congress in the First District, extremely doubtful. Hubbard, in the Fourth, is defeated beyond a doubt. Wait, the Republican candidate in the Third District, is returned to Congress by an increased majority. The majority for Hayes in Maine is 20,000; in New Hampshire 2,500; in Vermont 27,000; in Massachusetts 50,000; in Rhode Island 5,000.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 7.—This county (Kings) gives Tilden 17,388 majority.

BUPFALO, Nov. 7.—The city, complete, shows a total vote of 25,650 for the national ticket. Hayes' majority, 262. Democratic gain over last year, 3,422. Democratic gain over 1872, 3,417.

PHILADELPHIA.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—The excitem this city has been less than was expected. Everything was quiet, and, though 250 United States Deputy Marshals had been appointed, there was little for them to do, only half a dozen cases being brought before the United States Commissioner. There were less than a dozen cases before the Central Station—nearly all of Democratic repeaters, who were held to answer. To-night the streets are crowded, and thousands are looking at the returns exhibited by the Press and Times. No ward is yet in, but the city shows a probable majority of 16,000 for the whole Republican ticket, about 10,000 to 15,000 in the State, and the probable election of fiteen Republican and twelve Democratic Commissioner. The majority is 506, against a Democratic last and the probable election of the Republican and twelve Democratic Commissioner. in the Tenth, are elected to Congress, all Republicans.

Harris in the Second and Loring in the Sixth, Republicans, are probably elected. Dean in the Third and Morse in the Fourth, Democrats, are probably elected.

The present Congressional delegation stands: Republicans, 5; Democrats 6; a Republican gain of 4 Congressmen, and if the vote continues in the same ratio will carry the State for Hayes by 50,000 plurality.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—One hundred and ixty-three towns and cities give Hayes 66,893; Tilden, 43,446; Rice, 61,534; Adams, 41,961; Baker, 5,831.

The following is the vote of Boston, all but one ward: Hayes, 19,138; Tilden, 22,206; Rice, 19,073; Adams, 21,575; Baker, 1,135.

Boston, Nov. 7.—One hundred and ninety-seven towns give Hayes 95,518; Tilden, 70,644; Rice, 98,804; Adams, 70,903; Baker, 8,085.

Four counties complete give 61 Republican and 10 Democratic members of the Legislature. All but three towns in the Fifth District give Banks 9,741; Frothingham, 9,155. The other towns will increase Banks' majority about 200. The Third District elects Dean, Democrat, by 43 plurality.

Morse, Democrat, is also elected in the Fourth COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7—10:15 p. m. from 377 wards and townships show R gains over October election of 1875 Democratic gains 5,784, giving a net Degain of S8. HOW HE RECEIVED THE NEWS.

Special Dispaich to The Tribune.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Probably the calmest and least disturbed of the population of Ohio, if not of the country, is Rutherford B. Hayes. During the day he has manifested an intelligent interest in the election,—such an interest as becomes a citizen who appreciates the importance of a choice for the office of President of the United States,—but beyond this he might never have been a candidate in his life. Columbus is boiling and secting, and at the City-Hall the huge audience-room is througed. Dispatches are coming in meagrely, but as they show steadily increasing gains for the Republican party over the vote of October, the enthusiasm is boundless. At the Governor's office there are ten or twelve gentlemen figuring quietly and impassively on returns from the quietly and impassively on returns from various city wards.

is at his home surrounded by his family and a few intimate friends. Now and then the conversation was upon the absorbing topic, to which the Governor listens patiently and pleasantly, occasionally adroitly diverting it into some other channel. No amount of favorable prophesy or dismal foreboding seems to affect him. He has divided himself into two parts and left that which is running for office to the people, while the other looks on without a particle of interest in the result. The Executive Mansion of the Governor of Ohio is not an imposing edifice. It is in a square fronting the eastern front of the State House, and is a pain brick structure of a dull leaden color. Inside it is fitted up more for comfort than show. The carpets are of rich warm tints, the furniture selected with a view to ease more than to luxury. Besides the damask rep scattered through the pariors there are huge wooden chairs with rush bottoms, great roomy contrivances that open welcoming arms roomy contrivances that open welcoming arms to the visitor. Two huge fireplaces are piled high with great hickory sticks and masses of flames, and hospitable they look compared with the cold, dull, cloudy aspect without. Responsive to the ring of your correspondent this afternoon came in person, and warmly did she welcome him to the cozy, pleasant parlor. A homelike, go married woman of 40 perhaps, with the rot ness of the matron allied to the freshness Sto. Last spring these gave notinson, accounting the property is 508, against a Democratic last year of 402. Republican gain, 907. This includes no city.

Harfford, Conn., Nov. 7.—Hartford gives Tilden a plurality of 989. The Democratic majority for Governor last spring was 678. Democratic gain in the city, 383.

Meriden gives Hayes 27 majority,—a Democratic loss of 216.

Harfford, Conn., Nov. 7—9 p. m.—Fifty-nine towns, including Meriden, the only city yet reporting, give Hayes 1,4397; Tilden, 13,335; Hayes' majority, 1,062; Hayes' vote over Robinson last spring, 3,280; Tilden's over Ingersoll, 1,190. These 59 towns gave a Democratic majority last spring of about 1,028; Republican gain, 2,090.

Harfford, Conn., Nov. 7.—The State is Democratic by 3,000. Hawley, for Congress, is defeated by Landers by 600.

Harfford, Conn., Nov. 7.—Gen. Hawley is defeated for Congress in the First District by about 150.

There seems no doubt that the Legislature is Republican in both branches. ness of the matron allied to the freshness bequeathed by a healthful youth. Her complexion is dark and her hair jet black. In a few moments the Governor entered and greeted your correspondent cordially. He did not seem to think there was anything extraordinary in the day, and when the goesip turned upon the election he expressed a mild wonder if everything had off quietly. Not once was Tilden's name mentioned. There was something in his manner that indicated that any allusion to his candidacy, even by inference, would be distasteful to him. A dispatch had been received from New York announcing in that city, and when that fact was communicated to him, he frowned for a moment and shook his head, "That is too bad," said he; "too bad. Delicate people will not come out in rainy weather, nor have we any right to expect it of them. Besides that," he continued, seating himself in one of the immense chairs and stretching out his legs—"besides that, it drives respectable ones from polls and offers encouragement to frauds. This is especially the case in large cities, where advantage is taken of the withdrawal of the respectable element to press forward fraudulent voters and to stuff boxes. But," he added pleasantly, "of course these things cannot be helped. I noticed A NOST REMARKABLE STATEMENT in a Cincinnati paper of this morning, giving the names of a large number of Republicans in that city who would not and did not vote at the October elections. I am astounded at this. I can scarcely credit the statement. By their absence from the polls they losted least one Congrussman, and it may be, two,—a fearful loss when we reflect how close the party is in Congress. I am inclined to think there is some mistake in this. I certainly hope so; yet I can't see how the paper could have fallen find such an error, if it is one."

ORIO.

The question was put as to his information the paper could have fallen into such an error, if it is one."

ORIO.

The question was put as to his information and faith concerning Ohio. He answered that he did not know how it would be in Ohio or Indians; most of interest lay in the election of Congressmen in other States. He did not any it, but he indicated plainly that it was more important to elect a Republican Congress than a Republican President. Then he took up Illimois, and betrayed a thorough knowledge of affairs in that State.

ABOOT CHICAGO.

He became the interviewer finally, and asked numerous questions as to the political complezion of Congressional candidates. Repecially was he interested in Chicago, and after a lengthy conversation upon the Congressional tickets of its several districts he switched off suddenly upon the trade and business prospects of your city. He goasiped about its improvements and commercial advantages, and told little stories of its people as illustrating its characteristics.

Mrs. Hayes finally drew him from that with an account of a in the morning, whither she had gone to induct their son Scott Hayes upon a scholastic career. She described the diffidence of the boy, and dwelt upon the chances of the length and strength of his homesickness—all told in a quiet, half-serious, half-humorous fashion that amnsed the Governor. "I wish the election was over," alse concluded.

But tell me more about Scott, "exclaimed the Governor agerly; and she went on again, picturing the coming career of that pupil.

Would the Governor be in his office during the night? Well, he didn't know; he might go over unless the crowd should be too large for comfort. If he didn't know; he might go over unless the crowd should be too large for comfort. If he didn't know; he might go over unless the crowd should be too large for comfort. the night? Well, he didn't know; he might over unless the crowd should be too large I comfort. If he didn't go he would probably at home, as there was nothing going on in tow that evening, and it was too raw to roam about the streets. He thought on the whole he would be at home, to which your correspondent would be welcome up to a reasonable time.

"I went to bed at 10 o'clock the night of the October election; and, more than that, I went to sleep. I don't know at what time I shall retire to-night, but as soon as I get sleepy I shall start."

tewnships and wards, which show a Republican gain of 1,196, and a Democratic gain of 734. Of course," he continued, laughing, "if we had made these figures they would have been a little better for us, but as it is we are holding our own barely. Still it does not prove anything. It seems Rhode Island has giver us a majority of 5,000; our Congressional candidates in the Boston districts are in all probability elected; and, while Mr. Tilden has a majority of 500 in two-thirds of Boston, ret there is one-third of Boston to hear from, and neither you nor I can tell what that one-gains reported that are absolutely impossible, and all these mistakes must be rectified before we'can form any accurate judgment upon the result."

Just then a cheer rang from the City-Hall clear across the square, and at least two blocks off, yet plannly heard in spite of the howling wind in the chimney.

"It suppose they think they have got some—thing," said the Governor with a smile. "They will appland anything that has even a super-ficial appearance of favorable news, but by and by they may find that they are defeated, and then you won't hear so much noise."

"As he spoke another cheer came tumbling down the chimney. Cut into thin, shrill shreds by the bitter wind, it rode on. "Another heard from," said the Governor, and his visitors langhed and drew nearer the fire. Your correspondent had gone in under the impression that sitting up with a Presidential candidate was not dissimilar in sits depressing influences to doing up the last momente of a man condemned to execution; but the cheerful family party and the imperturbable good humor of the Governor and his wife made it look more like the celebration of a holiday than the settlement of a man's political Hie or death. A few squares off men who could never by any stretch of human possibility become candidates for anything were wild with excitement, while the man upon whose success they had lashed themselves into their terrible state sat calmly at his fireside, and read the returns sent to hint as if they were interesting items from a paper, interesting only as they furnished information in which his only concern was the acquirement of useful knowledge.

"It p. m.—The following dispatch has just been received by Gov. Hayes from George Jones, of the New York and Brooklyn will probably more than counterbalance them.

was when a dispatch came indicating that Counecticut had gone Republican and itading the way to the supper-groom.

was elected.

"Now we will have some supper," said the Governor, rubbing his hands and leading the way to the supper-room.

During the repast a message came from New York conceding the State to the Democrats.

"That settles it," said the Governor, rising and walking into the parlor. "I wish we could have carried New York, Tilden's own State."

Said Mrs. Mitchell: "If we could only have carried New York and Ohio, Tilden's State and ours!"

carried New York and Ohio, Tilden's State and ours!"

The Governor walked up and down the room. "I had more reason to expect New York than Connecticut," he said, "yet that is the way it goes. Do any of you believe in luck!" ne asked, "because if there is anything in seeing the moon over your right shoulder I ought to be a lucky man," and he laughed.

"Never mind, Governor," said Gov. Dennison; "we will send you to Washington yet, and you will find that Tilden will have to remain in New York."

A few minor dispatches came in showing alternating gains in Ohio, but not producing any effect on the results. Close after them came one from Brooklyn, fixing the Democratic majority at 15,000.

"That is it, you see," said Gov. Hayes: "there is where we suffer. Just think of it! 15,000 majority in Brooklyn!"

Then came one stating that in 400 precincts in Indiana Tilden had gained between 100 and 900.

"All of a piece," said the Governor: "our smaller victories here and there will find it difficult work to cope with the majorities rolling up on the other side."

cult work to cope with the majorities rolling up on the other side."

Then he paced the floor again, and apparently paid no attention to the few and meagre returns just received from the outlying wards and precincts of Ohio. "Never mind Ohio." he said. "more any care of the outper wards and precincts of Ohlo. "Never mine Ohlo," he said; "read me any other dis patches." It was evident that the worst side of the case was uppermost, and all present tried to take that view of it, but the Governor had see his heart on New York, and with the news of the loss of that State he was inclined to take a gloomy view. It was then after 11 o'clock, and the Governor looked tired and sleepy, and your correspondent bade him good night.

INDIANA.

THE STATE CONCEDED TO THE DEMOCRATE.

Special Disputed to The Tribuna.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7.— The election passed off very quietly in this city to-day, and a vote only 118 less than in October was polled, which was over 2,000 greater than ever cast before. The day at first was unpleasant, and it was feared that a small vote would he got out, but, in the afternoon, the clans rallied, and a full vote was secured. It will be impossible tonight to give the exact result, but indications full vote was secured. It will be impossible tonight to give the exact result, but indications are that this county will give from 2,000 to 2,100 majority for Hayes, an increase of 500 over last month. Throughout the State, so far as returns have been received, there is little change from the October vote. Harrison and Williams polled the full strength of their respective parties, and the returns thus far received show that the vote for Hayes and Tilden varies but little from that. The probabilities are that the Democrats will gain from 1,500 to 2,000 in the State. Republicans concede the State.

Large crowds of Republicans and Democrats gathered about the respective headquarters to-night to hear the returns that were received. There was a noticeable lack of enthusiasm in both parties, but the Democrats were the noisier and more confident. Among the more sangulue Democrats a proposition was made to serenade Gov. Hendricks, but it was finally determined to wait until they were out of the woods before crowing. It was generally conceded that the result was dependent upon New York, and at midnight, from advices then received, the Republicans went home feeling that the jig was up.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 7.—Returns from five townships and one precinct in this city ahow a Republican gain of 50. Two townships give a Democratic gain of 50, and two townships give a Democratic gain of 17, as compared with the October election. One of the inter is Notre Dame, which increases 14. Prominent citizens from this city describe the polling there as being a regular cross-roads farce, the Brothers swearing to names by which no one best acquainted with them have ever known them. TERER HAUTE, Ind., Nov. 7.—Full returns from all the precincts have not been received, and will not be until morning. Twelve out of the nipeteen precincts show a net Republican gain of 17 over the October election, when Williams' majority was 948. The precincts not yet heard from will probably increase the Republican gain to 40, or an average of 3 to a precinct. The Independent ticket runs away behind October. The weather was cold and cloudy, and the vote light. Perfect order prevailed.

GALENA.

GALENA, Ill., Nov. 7.—Intense excitement prevails in this city over the result of to-day's elections. The Gazette office is thronged, and the Democrats are especially jubilant over the reports. Earlham Precinct, Madison Township, Hayes, 114; Tilden, 52; Cooper, 4.

The total vote of Iowa City is 1,254, and will not be counted before daylight.

Dusuque, Ia, Nov. 7.—The vote in this city and county was unusually large, and, though there was deep interest felt by all parties, the polling was quiet and without noteworthy disturbance in the city. The city has gone Democratic by about 750 majority, a Democratic gain of nearly 3,000 over the Gubernatorial vote of last year. The principal point of contest here was on Congressman, the Democratic nominee, J. W. Griffith, residing here. His competitor, T. W. Burdick, of Decorah, Winneshiek County, lives in the northern end of the district, hence the gains here of his Democratic trajority; for Griffith of about 800. Meagre returns from the county precincts render it impossible to more; then approximate the Democratic trajority; for Congress in the county, but it will probably be about 2,300. Returns from the other six counties in the district, though meagre, indicate the election of Bardick, Republican, by 300 to 300 majority. Should this estimate be realized, it will recover the Third District to the Republicans.

Iowa probably Republican by 40,000 majority. Dubuque, Ia., Nov. 7.—Dabuque County gives over 2,000 majority for Tilden and 2,500 magis for Congress, Returns from other counties show up gains on Congress which will probably elect Burdick, Republican, for Congress, notwithstanding a large Democratic majority in Dubuque County.

RENT COUNTY.

Special Dispatch to The Tribung.

GRAND KAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 7.—Hayes has a majority of about 400 in this city over Tilden, a rain of that number over 1874. Stone, for Congress, goes out of the city about even; the Democrats and Greenbackers united on the Congressional nominee. Stone will have 500 to 600 in the county and Hayes 1,000 to 1,200.

The Town of Lowell, in this county, gave Hayes 174 majority; Algona, 96; gains, about 40. It is reported that Ionia County will give Stone, Republican, 1,000 majority. The Town of Nelson, this county, always Democratic heretofore, gives a majority for the entire Republican ticket. It is certain that the entire Republican county ticket in this county is elected, and that Judge Stone will carry the district if the other counties do as well as those heard from.

DIVIDING UP THE SPORS. Two O'CLOCK A. M .- The Democratic Committee went home at 1 o'clock to divide the offices and to finish the painting of their transparencies of victory. The Republican Committee remained at its post and received results indicating the possibility of a very important DON'T GIVE UP YET.

President Grant, Attorney-General Taft, and other members of the Cabinet received dispatches at the White-House until after midnight. The President, as he heard of the Democratic exultatation, remarked that the Democratic boasts seemed to be based upon estimates, and not upon figures, and that the returns which he him-self had would show a different result. The Republicans, conceding New York to the Democrats, claim that the returns here give the right to claim New Jersey and Connecticut, and that with them Haves will be elected without New York. The Republicans by no means concede the election of Tilden, but claim that the vote is so close that the official returns may show Hayes' election. Republicans do not concede North Carolina.

SOUTH CAROLINA. A PRACEABLE ELECTION AND A REPUBLICAN

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A special to the Times from Charleston, S. C., say that, owing to the presence of United States troops, the election passed off quietly in South Carolina. One or two slight disturbances occurred, but no serious rlot is reported. The Republicans have carried the State for Hayes and Wheeler by at carried the State for Hayes and Wheeler by at least 10,000 majority. The State Committee claims from 15,000 to 20,000. The majority for the State ticket will not be over 12,000. The Republicans have probably elected four out of the five Congressmen, a loss of one.

UNOFFICIAL.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 7.—Unofficial returns from various sections of the State show large Democratic gains everywhere as compared with the vote of two years ago. No Republican gain yet reported anywhere. The Democratic Committee are jubilant.

The Republicans are unwilling to grant that Chamberlain's majority of 1874 has been overcome.

Chamberlain's majority of 1874 has been overcome.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 7.—Unofficial but trustworthy returns from about half of the State show a Democratic gain of over 12,000, compared with 1874, when Chamberlain had 10,000 majority over Gaeen (Fusion). The Republicans claim that Charleston County will give a heavy Republican gain to offset the Democratic gains. The result hangs upon the coast counties, not accessible by wire.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 7—12:20 a. m.—The Republicans claim South Carolina by 15,000 majority. The Democrats claim that returns enough have been received to insure the election of Evins and Aiken (Democrats) in place of Wallace and Carpenter (Republicans).

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Chairman of the Louisians State Republican Committee telegraphs to the Times from New Orleans: The State has probably gone Republican by from 6,000 to 8,000. Smith, Republican, in the Fourth Congressional District, is undoubtedly elected.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

New Orleans, Lu., Nov. 7.—The Hon. John A. Logan: We have gained largely in the country, except in five bull-dogxed parishes next to the Arkansas and Mississippi line, in one of which the White League killed a Debuty United States Marshal to-day, and broke up all the polling-places but one, where they polled most of their votes. We will reduce the Democratic majority in this city at least 6,000. I have no doubt but that we have carried the State.

W. P. Kellogg.

A DEMOCRATIC CLAIM. NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 7 .- The Democratic

State Central Committee have dispatches claiming 1,500 majority in Claibourne Parish and 1,000 majority in Lincoln Parish, a net gain of over 1,300 in the two parishes.

TENNESSEE.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 7.—The election was unusually quiet. A very heavy vote was polled, that of the city being 10,000, or 1,000 over any former vote. It is believed that Thomas, Independent Democratic candidate for Governor, has carried the county by over 1,500, and that the Republicans have elected their Leg'slative ticket. The Democrats generally concede the election of Randolph, Republican, for Congress, over Young, Democrat, present incumbent. The official vote will not be known until a

VIRGINIA.

NORFOLE, Va., Nov. 7.—The election is quiet. The majority in this city for Tilden is 950. The majority for Goode, Democrat, for Congress is 965. Democratic increase, 574. Elizabeth County gives 830 Republican majority. Republican increase, 200. Hunter is re-elected to Congress by several thousand majority.

Hunter is re-elected to Congress by several thousand majority.
RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—Tilden's majority in Richmond will be 1,500.
Returns from the surrounding counties show Democratic gains over the vote of 1874. The only close contests for Congress are in the Second and Fourth Districts. The remaining seven districts will elect Democratic Congressmen. Few returns received from the Second District show that Goode, Democrat, is gaining over the vote of 1874.

NORTH CAROLINA.

DEMOCRATIC GAINS.
RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 7.—Raleigh city and townships give a gain of 100. All points in the State heard from give Democratic gains. Meck-lenburg County, the home of Vance, gives a Democratic gain of 300. a Democratic gain of 800.

WILMINOTON, N. C., Nov. 7.—Returns thus far received show almost universal Democratic gains. Wilson County gives a Democratic gain of 400. The indications all favor a decided Democratic majority in the State.

The Republicans claim the State by a small majority, but admit it to be very close. The Democratic claim the State by 5,000 to 10,000. The Star estimates the Democratic majority in the State at 4,500 to 6,000.

TEXAS. GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 7.—The election is progressing quietly and without excitement at all the polling-places heard from. Specials from the interior state that very little interest is taken in the contest, and a small vote is beis taken in the contest, and a small vote is being polled. There is no question as to the result in the State at large, and in the Congressional Districts except this, the Fifth. In this district the probabilities favor Giddings, the regular Democratic candidate, against Jones, Independent Democrat.

MISSISSIPPI.

DEMOCRATIC GAINS.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—Private news from all over Mississippi, from Superintendents, to Mr. Vanhorne, Division Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company, reports the election of five and perhaps more Congressmen, and says the State is Democratic by over 30,000. Information from the same source states that in Louisiana both parties claim the State.

PACIFIC STATES. CALIFORNIA.

INDEFINITE. San Francisco, Nov. 7 .- The election in the city and State was very quiet. A heavy vote was cast. Forty-two thousand ballots were polled in the city. The result here cannot be known before morning. Both parties claim the city, but the defeat of Piper, Democrat, for Congress, in this district is conceded. Partial returns from the interior show Republican turns from the interior show Republican gains almost everywhere. There is no question that Page, Republican, will be elected in the Second District. In the Third and Fourth Dirtricts, reports are more doubtful, and cannot safely be predicted from present advices. At the Republican State Central Committee room the ieeling is strong that they have carried the State by a fair majority, and the press dispatches seem to indicate that fact. Returns from large towns are coming in very slowly. Nothing from Oregon or Nevada, except Democratic gains reported in Virginia City.

CHICAGO.

THE SOUTH SIDE. BRIDGEPORT.

The election in the Fifth and Sixth Wards, where, according to all preconceived opinions, there should have been trouble of some kind or was sure to be trouble in the Sixth Ward. Word was sent Capt. Ellis, at the Madison Street Station, who transmitted the intelligence to Sergt. O'Donnell. at the Twelfth Street Station. The good-natured Sergeant correctly presumed that the rumor had no foundation except in the brain of some over-officious politician, but he did his duty nevertheless. Jumping into his buggy, he haste ned to the corner of Brown and Twentieth streets, where the trouble was to arise. Six officers followed him in a wagon. On arriving there the party found that everything was, and had been, perfectly orderly. As this is a strong Democ ratic ward there was more or less ani-Democ ratic ward there was more or less animated talk among the voters and hangers-on, but that was all. The over-zealous borrower of trouble had all his pains for nothing, and the Sergeant and his men returned to the station. It is proper to state, in this connection, that Sergt. O'Donnell visited all the polls in the Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Wards six or seven times during the day and was an eye-withoss to the scenes of quiet and almost perfect order which prevailed. The Sixth Ward polls presented a most lively appearance about cusk. Fully 200 people, mostly Bohemians and all of them hard-working men fresh from their day's toil, stood in line, each one calmly and patiently waiting his turn, many of them without the slightest hope of a chance before the polls closed. Although it would seem that there was a sufficiently large number of polling-places yesterday, the experience of voters in this ward and others would go to show that the addition of a few more polls would not have been out of place.

SOUTH CHICAGO.

Three of the seven precincts belonging to the Town of Hyde Park are located in or near Mr. Bowen's settlement, South Chicago. They are denominated the Fifth, Sixth, and Seventh Precincus. The Fifth Precinct had its polls in the office of the South Chicago Dock Company, not far from the depot. Here all day long was gathered a small crowd, the constituent parts of which passed their time in joking, talking politics, at d hurrahing for the Presidential candidates. No disturbance of a serious nature occurred. One or two disputes were nipped ere they had blossomed into open hostilities by the adjacent policeman. The Sixth Precinct, situated across the Calumet, presented even a more uninteresting aspect than the Fifth. A good vote was polled, nearly evenly divided between Democrats and Republicans. The Seventh Precinct, at the Iron Works, containing an Irish population, went strongly Democratic all day. There was little splitting or scracking of tickets.

THE STOCK-TARDS.

At the Stock-Yards Precinct, Hoxi

going strong against Tilden. This news was received with derision, and the mob tabooed the dispatches as d—d lies. Even the dispatch from Hoxie's brother to the same effect was regarded as manufactured. Up to 2 o'clock about 450 votes had been polled, and it was then doubted that over 900 ballots would be cast. Taken all in all, the election at the Stock-Yards was a remarkably quiet one. At the Transit House, the stock-men's hotel, there was little or no excitement, though some betting was indulged in. New York State was gambled on even on 15,000 for Tilden, while Wisconsin was being bet on at 5,000 majority in favor of Hayes.

THE NORTH SIDE.

The election on the North Side passed off very quietly, and no arrests whatever were made. There were some brawls in the Seventeenth Ward, but they all were easily quelled by made. There were some brawls in the Seventeenth Ward, but they all were easily quelled by the policemen present.

The Fifteenth Ward polls were all day surrounded by large crowds, and long lines of voters were waiting for their turns. The aspect here was very Tildenish. The Tildenites were so loud and full of brag that many Republicans really became discouraged and went away without voting. The Republicans were very unfortunate in their ticket-peddlers in this ward. Most of these seem to have sold out to the energy, as few of them could be form in the afternoon. A majority of the German voters in the ward were infected with the Tilden fever. It was used as to argue with them, as they were determined to have a change. In the Second Precinct of this ward there were no Republican tickets when the polls were first opened. Mr. Polz arrived with them about an hour too late. The Sixteenth Ward was almost a counterpart of the Fifteenth. The polls were surrounded all day with crowds of voters, and the preponderance was in favor of Tilden. Both in this and in the Fifteenth Ward about 200 voters were unable to get in their votes before the closing of the polls.

The Seventeenth Ward, which is almost exclusively Democratic, was as noisy as ever. The crowds of unterrified at the various polls was perfectly appailing. There were but tew Republican ticket-peddlers in this ward. There was much opposition in regard to some of the local candidates, and considerable scratching was done. The fights were numerous, but none was serious enough to make an arrest necessary. The Eighteenth Ward was the quietest, and nearly all the voters in this ward had a chance to cast their ballots. The two parties were nearly equally divided, and but little scratching was done. A large number of Municipal Reform tickets were polled in this ward. In some of the wards, and especially the Seventeenth, a number of tickets headed "Labor Reform" were cast. These tickets were Democratic, with the exception of a few of the local candidates. ### THE WEST SIDE.

No trouble had been anticipated in the wards of the West Side, except the Eighth and Fourteenth. There it was expected that attempts would be made to run in some fraudulent votes. Would be made to run in some franculent votes. But, thanks to the steps taken by the Republican managers and the Federal authorities, no attempts were made. Throughout the West Side the election passed off, on the whole, in an Side the election passed off, on the whole, in an exceedingly quiet manner.

In the Republican wards, particularly in the Twelfth and Thirteenth, the voting was rather slow, owing to the frequency of Democratic challenging, done for the express purpose of galning time, and also largely to the fact that many Republicans had neglected to register, and were consequently obliged to swear in their votes.

5:30 in the afternoon some individual with more zeat than common sense telegraphed Col. Lyman Bridges, at the Grand Pacific, that there was sure to be trouble in the Sixth Ward. Word came-early in the evening were Lieut.-Gen. Phil Sheridan, Elliott Anthony, Dan Munn, Emery A. Storrs, Dan Shepherd, Assist. State's-Attorney Birch, Col. Bolton, Maj. Carroll, Col. Torrence, Gen. McArthur, Jas. P. Root. Gen. John A. Logan, A. L. Morrison, George Schneider, Col. James H. Roberts, J. A. Durand, Maj. Brockway, E. B. Sherman, and a number of others. The crowd numbered fully 2,000 persons. The grand rotunds was a mass of excited hammatry, which surged to and fro with the motion of any man who chanced to move backward or forward. In the telegraph office the crowd took possession, and did not even give the paperator a chance to work. The anxiety was, intense as to results, and a great many would not believe the great Republican losses reported, and were equally the other way when the news came of immense Republican gains in the State of Wisconsin.

In the telegraph office Secretary Dan Shepard, Senator Logan, James P. Root, Gen. McArthur, Eugery & Storrs, and George Schneider were esconced. Gen. Logan was the most confident as to the final result, and, wilhal, cool and calm. Mr. Storrs was excited and discouraged at times. James P. Root sometimes seemed quite blue, yet he rallied when good news came.

seemed quite blue, yet he railied when good news came.

John B. Drake was perhaps the coolest of all. He evinced no emotion, yet he seemed to have an abiding faith that the Republican party would pull through.

The first news that came in was about 9 o'clock. It was from Hyde Park and showed a Republican gain, and was greeted with immense cheers. Then came the report that 370 predicts in New York lad given Tilden 21,000 majority. This news seemed also reassuring, and was greeted with huzzahs. Then came in reports from various sections of the city. They created but little enthalsasm. As reports came in of Cooper's vote of 2 and 4 in scattering precincts, the audience burst out in the most derisive laughter. The news from Massachusetts set the crowd shouting, and when it was announced that Butler and Banks were elected, the cheers were many and strong. The intelligence that

In the rooms that constituted headquarters the scene was somewhat different, though it was equally lively. In the large end-room on the corner of Monroe and State streets was the man with the calcium light. His business was to render happy the Confederate ragged edges that ornamented the sidewalk, and which depended for its political comfort upon a transparency in the window. A number of loungers filled this room and indulged themselves in abstract speculations upon the probable truth or falsity of the returns. True Democratic instinct taught them to regard with suspicion the statements of their masters, and, reared in the atmosphere of falsehood, they were naturally doubtful of their own figures.

ened up percepcibly, and as he meditatively rubbed his gold-specialed nose, he remarked to the good Cyrus McCormick,—who wheedled himself into a chair overcoat and ivory-cane in his arms, and generous-spec black kids on his hands,—"I don't know but what this is the great tidal-ware which we expected four years ago, but it didn't come quite up to the mark them." And then there was the genial Judge Rogers there, and he smiled all over at the prospect of a rousing old-fashioned Democratic victory; and "my policy" Hayea, once-Comptroller of the city, was complacent and indulged in a positive way of putting figures.

Perry H. Smith and Gen. John Farnsworth loomed up on the boys, and were received with distinguished attention, while as for John Forsythe, there was no holding him back at all, he was so excited and eager to get outside to the people with every dispatch, and, to use his own language, "give it to 'em." Sam Ashton was there too, just as good a Democrat as any of 'em. One would have sworn he had never seen the shadow of a Republican ticket.

looked a perfect martyr to the cause of righteons Democracy; he felt so good that a person of daring courage might have ventured on asking him to forgive Bishop Chency for his heresies without a fear of the result.

And then to see how good Barney Caulfield and John Forsythe felt towards one another was in itself refreshing. John would read a little news from a dispatch, and then Caulfield would add his little stock of information, but in so quiet a voice that one might have fancied him relating the dreadful experiences of the Rebel prisoners at Camp Douglas.

But it was indeed a loving cup of Democratic good cheer partaken of in that little room last evening, and there were present to enjoy it Edward Rummell, Charley Cameron, Senator M. W. Robinson, Tom Courtney, Thomas Gray, John M. Rountree, S. Ansley Gray, of Milwankee, John C. # RECEIVING THE NEWS.

**Extray Post! Fully county 'lection!"

All the streets in the business quarter of the city resounded with the cries of multitudinous newsboys. Stores began to be lit up; salcons blazed forth an impetuosity of gas. Along the sidewalks hurried a constantly-swelling stream of men; broadcloth jostled against fustian.

If the city had been surprisingly quiet during the day, so as to convey an impression to even experienced observers that there was a lack of popular interest in the Presidential election, its aspet at the very threshold of the evening contradicted the impression.

SCENES AT THE PALMER HOUSE.

"Substantially solid, that's what it is, and no mistake," said the red-hot Bourbon as he ciutched his beard in his excitement over a bogus dispatch, which he rushed to impart to the yelling, boisterous crowd firmly packed together in the rotunda of the Palmer House.

At about 8 o'clock hist evening the areat space in front of the office at this hotel was filled with a motley assemblage of the true Democratic pattern, all of them in their faverish impatience fairly itching for news. The approaches to the Committee rooms upstairs were held by policemen, none being permitted to pass up except the guests of the house, and the leaders and personal friends of the untervified faithful.

The rotunds was crammed with an anxious and expectant crowd; the balconies above were filled, many of their occupants being ladics, who fully participated in the excitement. The crowd was, as might have been expected, violently Democratic in its aympathies, and was certainly Democratic in its aympathies, and was certainly Democratic in its aympathies, and was flash jewelry abounded; sporting men and men about town, notorious barnacles of the curbstones were there in scores; hard youths and wetched old men stood shoulder to shoulder, patiently waiting and yelling, hour after hour, to hear the news from Thiden.

There was a small proportion of respectable men in the crowd, but they, evidently dyed in the wool and ful from their youth upon Democratic milk, looked as though they felt ashamed of the company they wifer in.

From the north t balcony, where the telegrams were shouted to the fretting mob by John Forsythe, Jerry Crowley, and others, the scene was a peculiar aim interesting one. In two precincts of the Eighth Ward there were no Republican tickets to be had in the afternoon, and it is cheerfully surnaised that "One Carter's" bai'l was drawn on to purchase the peddlers. A few drunken men were seen, but they created no disturbance. The police had nothing to do, and the Federal officers had no occasion to soft their gloves.

Exchange presented the animated appearance last night that it did on the occasion of Huck's election last fall, when it was crowded to excess, and the returns were announced until a late bour. The votes as returned were given by a gentleman with a clear voice to an audience of about 150, who received them with earnest demonstrations, and then they were planed on a ditile board in one corner of the room and left for the spectators to gase at leisurely. Returns were thus given up to midnight, when it became evident that it was useless to continue longer, and the job was relinquiabed, and the crowd was narrowed down to a few convival spirits who lingered about the bar discussing the probable result over frequent potations, and apparently laboring under as much doubt as they had before a figure was obtained. A small amount of money was wagered, but no large sums during the evening.

The THEMONT BOURE.

There was very little excitement at the Tremont House, where the returns—a few only—were received and pinned upon a board in the Exchange. The botel was comparatively quiet, not even the Greenbackers, who assembled in their rooms on the second floor, exhibiting any cuthusiasm. The party managers sitempted to make a show of telegrams in the carp part of the evening, but they were soon convinced of the foily of displaying a scattering vote here and there for Cooper and others of their licket, and by 9 o'clock retired in evident disgust and commenced a settlement with their hired helpers, who lingered about the rooms until after 40 o'clock. By 10.30 the piace was described by all but the Secretaries and one or two assistants, and it was evident that the so-called Independent party was laid very completely on the shelf.

By 11 o'clock a larger crowd collected in the Exchange,

THE ELECTION.

When we write these lines all the indicaons are that Sawuel J. Thouse has been sected President of the United States. The ority in the Electoral College is small, but sufficient. The vote of the "Solid h," with that of New York, Connecti-rut, New Jersey, and Indiana, has decided hat there shall be a change. It is not difficult to discover wherein the Republican party has been overcome in this election. Four years ago there was a large defection of some of the best and ablest Republicans in the country, caused by dissatisfaction, not with the principles of the Republican party, but with the general character of the men then are the country of the principles of the Republican party, but with the general character of the men then are the country of the principles of the sevente of the men then are the country of the principles of the sevente of the men then are the country of the country o administering the Government. The people, however, were not prepared to hand over the Government to the Democratic party, and the Republican Administration was continued. The men in office chose to regard this as a personal gindication, and, heedless of the great popular demand for reform, they grew bolder in their conduct. Then came popular indignation, as shown in the election of 1874, and when 1876 opened it election of 1874, and when 1876 opened it was certain that unless the Republican party could give the nation an assurance of its purpose to reform the administrative policy of the Government the party could not retain control of the Government. To do this it was necessary to select a candidate whose name and ability were of themselves a guarantee that reform would be vigorous and comprehensive. The Republican Con-omprehensive. The Republican ion was not able to select the man whom the country needed and expected. Division among the aspirants, and the persistent efforts of the machine politicians to perpetuate their system, compelled the selection of a compromise candidate, who, though eminently respectable and personally deoted to reform, was not the man previously ecepted by the country. Gov. Haves was ot a favorite of the machine politicians. His letter of acceptance was an admirable exposition of the existing universally demonstrated as yet. The tenaddress himself to their correction. But there was nevertheless a popular disappointment. Though the main portion of those who had gore off in 1872 and of those who had abstained from voting in 1874 returned to the Republican party, the campaign opened under the shadow of public regret that in the battle for Reform the leadership had not been given to the man already endeared to the country as the great Republican Reformer.

This shadow has rested upon the party from the beginning to the end. The Republican press, the Republican orators, and the whole energies of the party have been of necessity energies of the party have been of necessity directed not to attract new voters, nor to hreak into and capture Democrats, but to retain the party strength, and to prevent de-fection. With a Governmental record of the most unprecedented success in all branches of the public service, and with a national credit rescued and restored to an unexampled degree, the party which upon that record ought to have been able that record ought to have been able to have carried successful, aggressive war into the ranks of the Democratic party was compelled from the beginning to the end to direct all its appeals and all its labors to prevent its own members going over to the opposition to seek from that party, under its specious promises that opposition to seek from that party, under its specious promises, that reform in the administrative policy of the Government which the Republican party had by its nominations failed to give the country satisfactory assurance was intended or would be possible under its many machine leaders. While the Republicans were thus endeavoring to prevent delicans were thus endeavoring to prevent de-sertions and to hold their own forces, the Democratic party pursued a most aggressive war. It held Gov. HAYES responsible for all the errors and mistakes of the Administration during the last eight years, and while his platform and his principles were all that the country could desire, he had to carry the weight of the very crimes and follies which he had been selected to reform. The result of a campaign thus conducted,—a campaign intensely aggressive on the one hand, and exclusively defensive on the oth-Democratic party in other States, and in the general result the story is told of the defeat

Its principles are those of National life. They cannot be destroyed. It will still retain a majority in one branch of Congress and be a strong minority in the other. Its leading policies are engrafted in the Constitution, and are unchangable. It was a more disgraceful al-tempt to steal from the people the right of government by the ballot than any ballot-stuffing or repeating.

No State in the whole Union, under the circumstances, has done better for the Re-publican party than Illinois. At the last lection the Fusion ticket was elected by 30,-000 majority, and the same combination of Democrats and Greenbackers elected thirteen ngressmen to six Republicans and both nches of the Legislature.

branches of the Legislature.

The same elements again combined to carry the State, Congressional, and Legislative tickets, and generally united on President.

The Republicans have beaten this combination and redeemed the State. The majority for HAYES, from present indications, will not be less than 25,000; the State ticket is elected by majorities ranging from 15,000 to 25,000; they have elected certainly ten members of Congress, and perhaps one or two more. The result on the Legislature is not known to-night, but we think the Republicans have one if not both branches. If ther States had done as well as Illinois, HAYES would be President.

THE SILVER QUESTION IN INDIA.

The money of India is exclusively silver.

There is no provision for coining gold at the Government mints, and India is the great outlet for silver bullion, which is exported there in exchange for commodities. decline in the relative value of silver since it was demonetized in Germany has been seriously felt in India, and recently there has been a discussion as to the advisability of limiting the coinage of rupees. The prac-tice is to take the bullion at the mints and give silver rupees of equal weight and value in return, or Government notes which car be exchanged for rupees, thus making no charge for the coinage and maintaining an equal value of silver coin, silver bullion, and to place an artificial premium on the silver coin and notes over the bullion, and to add another depression to the value of silver in the markets of the world. The Governor-General of India (Lord Lyrrox) and his Council have rejected this proposition, and also a proposition for the coinage of gold, which would introduce the bimetallic sys-tem, and agreed to retain the old system for the present.

This decision has been wise, both for the nterests of India and the commercial interests of the world. Merely to replace a restriction upon the coinage of silver and the sone of coin notes in exchange for silver bullion, without providing for the introduction of gold coinage, would be an artificial contraction of currency that could not fail to have a depressing effect on the trade of India, and might easily result in a financial panie. India would in this way shut itself out from a large part of the trade that now goes to it, since the exportation of silver bullion to that country would be checked. At the same time, the closing of this market against silver bullion, of which it is one of the largest consumers, would further increase the silver panic throughout the world and hasten the universal demonetization of silver. It would result in large for several months; the product of the American mines has not been so large as had been anticipated; the substitu-tion of silver coil for fractional notes in the United States has created a new, though not very large demand; and the strong probability that silver will be restored as part of the national money in this country has arrested the panic that had set in. Though silver is still about 12 per cent below the relative value which it held so long. there is a variety of causes which may operate to restore the equilibrium of gold and silver. India, considering its own interests, can better afford to sustain the present loss of exchange on remittances to Europe than place a formidable barrier on its European trade and risk the evils of an artificially-contracted currency. And the rest of the world may congratulate itself that the value of silver is not at once to suffer another shock much greater and more serious than was tha felt by the German demonetization. We have all been so much engrossed in our political affairs for many months as almost to ignore those events of the outside world in which at any other time there would be a keen American interest. Among these is the recent determination of Spain to put a summary check upon the Cuban in-surgents, if possible. Spain is in a bad way financially. Besides the enormous bonded debt with which the Government is loaded, the church salaries are about $35,000,000 in behind. Spain has no other resource than Cuba from which to meet these immediate emands, and, as a preliminary to squeezing the rich Cuban orange dryer than ever, it is necessary to make greater headway against the insurgents on the island. To this end it has been determined to send 50,000 more troops to reinforce the 100,000 already on the island. About 14,000 of the new troops the island. About 14,000 of the new troops are already under way, and they are selected by lot from the Spanish army, thus securing a class of men greatly superior to the depraved Volunteers who constitute the majority of the Spanish force in Cuba. Jovellar has been recalled from the Captaincy-General, and Gen. Marrinez Campos has been assigned to the chief command of the island. Gen. Campos is known in Spain as the "Besificator of Catalogue" has other. Its leading policies are engrafted in the Constitution, and are unchangable. The defeat of such a party must be temporary, and with its temporary defeat will pass away also the temporary causes leading to that defeat.

The judges of election appointed by the County Board Ring did yesterday the work set down for them to do. In Republican precincts the voting was obstructed on every finnsy pretense until 7 o'clock, when the majority of the judges promptly closed the polis in some of the precincts, thus disfranchising as many as three hundred votes at a single precinct who were on the ground waiting for opportunity to vota. But in the interest of the flower of the Spanish of the Castros and the flower of the Spanish of the Castros and the flower of the Spanish of the Castros and the flower of the Spanish of the Turkish peninsula she would be not more out of range than she is now, but much educated, against the ready sources of sup-ply they find in the sympathy of the people, against the ravages of the climate, and against the woody and hilly character of the country in which the war is waged. But the new energy with which Spain is to prosecute the war against the Cuban insurgents will in any case precipitate the end, and either crush out the Patriot cause for many years to come, or demonstrate the impotency of the Home Government to conquer the hatred

WHAT THE WORLD OWES. Civilized mankind is largely in debt. One of the great items of taxation upon labor, and skill, and thrift is to pay interest upon what Governments have borrowed, and ex-pended, and mostly wasted. The public debt of civilized nations is not only great, but is growing, and is comparatively modern. It may be said to largely represent the cost of war. Money is now as indispensable in war as are armies and navies. These are now created and maintained by money, and the money is obtained by borrowing. The minster Review, in a late number, compiles a statement of the public debts as they have stood at several periods since 1715. At that time the aggregate debt of the world was £300,000,000, or $1,500,000,000, or about three-fourths of the present debt of the United States. Now these debts reach the enormous sum of $23,885,000,000, the average rate of 6 per cent, is $1,481,000,000. The statement of the debt is as follows:

£4, 577, 000, 000 With this enormous mortgage, upon the accumulations of labor, and this enormous tax upon its annual product to pay interest, it would seem that the Governments of civilized nations would be slow to encourage or even engage in "a general war," or war of any kind. Fortunately, a great many of the States on the American Continent have reached the limit of their credit, and, while they cannot borrow any more, they are as helpless to pay. The most belligerent States in Europe are, however, those most heavily in debt,—Russia and Turkey,—and both are preparing for a struggle which is to result in the dismemberment of the Turkish Empire and its exclusion from Europe, or in such a weakening and impoverishment of Russia as to cripple her for half a century. The Turk with debt.

This array of debts—nearly twenty-four sents the cost of past wars,—the amount of money wasted in the work of destruction, and it seems to be increasing. On a large amount of this debt the debtors have stopped paying interest from inability to do so. In this list of debts are also included, besides the Governmental debts, such as are due by municipalities and minor Governments. Upon the increase of these the people have it in their power to put a veto, and this veto should be applied in all cases, without exception.

We forbear to express any opinion as to how this grand aggregate of deht is ever to be paid, or to make any suggestion as to when it will be paid. Certain it is that it will not be extinguished within the second century of the American Union,

ENGLAND AND CONSTANTINOPLE It has hitherto been supposed that Con-stantinople was the key to the Eastern question, and that the Power into whose hands it shall ultimately fall would control the route to India. The English jealousy of Russian aggressiveness has always been attributed to the fear that sooner or later Constantinople would be seized by Russia. In every discussion of the Eastern question, and of the relations between Servia and Turkey as ultimately affecting this question, this element has been taken into consideration, and the probability of war between Russia and England, not only in the immediate present but in the future, has been predicated upon the Russian possession of the Turkish Capital. The argument hitherto has been that if Russia should seize Constantinople, she would be able to shut up the Black Sea, intercept the Anglo-Indian trade by the Suez Canal, and finally conquer India and threaten the English upon the Persian Gulf. It will occasion great surprise amo those who have given this question any thought, that there is a change of feeling among the English people rapidly taking place, and that they are beginning to doubt whether the Russian possession of Constantinople is of so much value after all, or in any event of sufficient consequence to be considered as a cause of war. A recent article in the constant ros has been assigned to the chief command of the island. Gen. Campos is known in Spain as the "Pacificator of Catalonia," because he completely subdued the malcontents of that province. But the method of pacification which he employs is merciless warfare, and it may be expected that his policy in Cuba will be to wage a more vigorous and perhaps a more cruel campaign against the Patriots struggling for "Cuba Libre." He may find, however, that what was practicable in Catalonia will not be possible in Cuba. His new army will have the same deadly effects of the climate for strangers to encounter which have al-more nearly within it." With regard to the interruption of English communicatious with India, which is the principal argument that has been made against the Russian occupation of Constantinople, the Spectator says:

A Russian fleet emerging from the Hellespont would be merely a fleet, and could be destroyed with just as much ease or just as much difficulty as a French fleet emerging from Marseilles or Toulon. It would be only a fleet, wherever it was, and would be no whit fitter for battle because prepared in Constantinople than if prepared in Sebastomore nearly within it." With regard to the pol or Cronstadt. If, indeed, we could imagine that the mere possession of Constantinopie would make Russia the first of maritime Powers, then, indeed, we should be in danger as serious as if we had lost the command of the seas; but except position, what would Constantinopie give her, in men, or maleriel, or means generally for the maintenance of a great fleet, that she does not already possess? There would be, in fact, another fleet in the Mediterranean besides the French, Spanish, Italian, and Anstrian, and that would be all. That is not an acceptable result to a Power like Great Britain, but it is not a result so dangerous that all other considerations should be postwhenever Russia obtains the free water-way which she can never cease to seek, and to which, by every rule of justice, she has for a century been en-

The last argument, that Russia intends to conquer India, and, fighting her way to Bagdad, threaten the English upon the Persian Gulf, is plumply met by the Spectator with the answer that the Russian object is not India at all. It says: "We do not believe that the Russian object in Asia is India, holding that her conquests, so far as they are not fortuitous, like many of our own conquests in India, are intended rather to enble her to attack Persia, and through Persia, Turkey, from behind; but accepting the idea that she desires to reign in India, how does the possession of Constantinople advance her end? She must move towards the Persian Gulf, and she would have to conquer a larger extent of territory and more numerous populations than she has, as matters now stand. The Spectator is evidently correct in its as sertion that India is not the end of Russian ambition. It is much more likely that the rich Empire of China is more attractive to Russian eyes than India, the possession of which would involve the longest, bloodiest, and most expensive war ever known in the history of the world.

The rural districts of Cook County, with 1 ouple of exceptions, have done splendidly, -far better than the city wards. They hav elected one, and perhaps two, Congressmen, and if the county ticket is saved the credit and honor are due to them of saving it. They have done their whole duty most nobly.

The water-famine so long predicted in New York City, and scouted by its people as a roor-back, has come upon them. The city has, as everybody who took the trouble to think about it foresaw, outgrown the Croton water-supply.

All summer the head was insufficient to supply residences in the more elevated portions of the city for more than a few hours out of the twenty-four. The rains that it was hoped would swell the volume of the Croton River haven't come, and the reservoir is now drained so low that the Grand Jurors for the city and county have felt it their duty to urge the authorities "to restrict the waste and use, even to the watering of the streets and its continuous flow in basins." They also "call upon our fellow-citizens of all classes, in their own defense, to arrest all unnecessary use of water, for, in the event of a fire occurring in a common with all, would be jeopardized." Upon the like grounds, the Police Board has issued strict orders to all roundsmen to exercise the strict energillance in their respective, we "a strict surveillance in their respective precincts over the use of the Croton water, to stop sidewalk and street washing with hose; also, waste in stables, hotels, dining-rooms, saloons, water-closets, etc.; and to report promptly such persons as are wasteful or extravagant, that their supply may be cut off." Withal the supply is still insufficient. It is, too, the opinion of many engineers that, in the four years which, according to the estimates, would be required to build additional reservoirs, the population will have increased beyond the utmost supply that can be drawn from the Croton and its feeders. It will cost not less than $26,000,-000, according to the estimates, to increase the reservoir-capacity. But, before entering upon it, the question occurs, Where can a new supply be drawn from?

The munificent scheme of public charities devised by James Lick, the Californian miser-millionaire, and which, to make secure against lawyers' quips and quiddets, he himself started in operation, instead of leaving it to be done after his demise, seems quite as liable to be defeated by the lawyers as though the whole depended upon the validity of a will. His conveyances, which became operative during his lifetime, will indeed be attacked upon precisely the stereotyped objection upon which wills seem almost invariably to be upset, namely: that of unsoundness of mind. There will, of course, be a protracted law-suit about it, which will go to show how well-nigh impossible it is for a man to dispose of his estate as he pleases, not merely by will but during his own lifetime.

The following, from a letter in the New York Times, by Mr. Sr. Clair McKriwar, of Brooklyn, gives Talmage's version of the act:

Dr. Talmage and the proprietors were formally to part company Nov. 6. After this agreement the proprietors corresped their property to another secretly, and with the presumable intent of dropping Dr. Talmage out, without notice, suddenly, before the time agreed on, and in a way that would have injuriously and unjustity affected him. He learned of this conspiracy, as I do not hesitate to call it, and dropped himself out on the very last day in which the proprietors he was serving were the proprietors! He was to edit their paper, not anothers. They made it over to another, and did not mean he should know that he had been sold out of his place before the time mutually agreed on for his retirement. He retired by his own act simultaneously with those who had designed to precede him just long enough to leave him in the lurch. He was quick enough to neutralize an unfriendly and covert movement against him. That is his offense. On ceasing to be editor, he printed a valedictory statement that be had ceased to be editor. That is his crime. That is all he did, and, as to the advertisement of the Advance, he neither put it in, nor knew that it was put in.

The Rev. Dr. McGibbon, who has just returned to Australia from this country, is enlightening the people around him with his recitals of the short-comings of American churches. He is especially aggrieved by his remembrances of Dr. Hall's church in New York. Cabanel, the French artist, has a fine residence on the Parc Monceaux, in one of the most luxurious quarters of Paris. It is just next door to the private hotel of M. Menler, the chocolate-manufacturer, which is a veritable palace, and of which the owner is wont to say that it is a very substantial dwelling to have been made out of chocolate. The home of Cabanel, though less pretentions, does not look out of place even in such splendid company. His studio is at the top of the house, up a winding staff. He has just completed three new pictures, two of which are destined for our shores. One represents the guitless lady of Dante's Purgatorio,—Pra di Talomel,—who was banished to the plague-stricken lands of the Maremma by her jealous husband. She is painted as dying, with the fire of the malaria in her veins. The subject is said to be handled in a masterly manner. This picture is nitended for Mr. Avery, of New York. Another of Cabanel's paintings just finished represents Phedre struggling in the night-watches against her guitly passion for Hippolytus. This picture is sold to a Chicago gentleman.

FARWELL HALL.

THE NOONDAY PRAYER-MERTING at Farwell Hall opened with singing the old Sunday-school hymn, "Happy Day," with Mr. Sankey at the organ.

The Rev. Mr. Davis then presented the requests for prayer, while the congregation with bowed heads offered their prayers in silence. The first was a call for thanksgiving for prayer answered. Then followed requests on behalf of Belleville, N. Y.; West Salem, Wis.; Fairbury, Belleville, N. Y.; West Salem, Wis.; Fairbury, Ill.; the union meetings at Mozart Hall, St. Louis; Cherokee, Ia., for the conversion of a Bible class of sixty persons, some of whom are already seeking the Lord; for union meetings in Geneseo, Ill.; for a pastor of his church at York, N. Y.; for the Christian Convention about to meet in Dublin, Ireland; and for a pastor who were present who desired to receive a who was present who desired to receive a blessing which is might carry home with him to Kansas. A her and mother, four young ladies, and a commercial traveler requested prayer for themselves; also several young con verts, that they might have courage to confess verts, that they might have courage to confess Christ; also, prayers for "our country." There were twenty-four children presented by parents, fourteen brothers by brothers and sisters, six husbands by wives—in all, about sixty. Prayer was then offered by W. H. Brown, evidently a Scotchman by birth, but now settled in this country. He prayed for "our country," that the clerifier to day might be accountable to Carl. the election to-day might be acceptable to God; at the same time remarking that, so far as he himself was concerned, he had no choice as to who should be elected. [What business has a man to pray over an election when he cares nothing about it ?]

The lesson for the day was the tenth chapter of John. THE ADDRESS.

Mr. Moody commenced by saying: A man asked me the other day if there was any place in the Bible where Christ expressly said that He was anything more than a man. It seems to me that the Gospel of John is full of proof of the divinity of Christ. In the fourth chapter He declares Himself to be the Messiah: "I that speak unto thee am He." In the sixth chapter He says, "I am the bread of life," and again, "I am the living bread which came down from Heaven." In the eighth chapter He says, "I am the light of the world." Suppose Moses or Isaiah, or any of the other patriarchs and prophets, had said such a thing as that, the people would have stoned them to death, and two or three times the Jews took up stones to stone the Savior because He made Himself out to be the Son of God. In the ninth chapter He says; "I am the Door," and again: "I am the Good Shepherd," on account of which the people were mad again, and grabbed up stones to stone Him because that was the same as saying that He was something more that a man. And once more, in the eleventh chapter. He says: "I am the resurrection and the life;" and concerning His own death He says: "I have power to lay down My life, and I have power to take it again."

Now, bear in mind that it was a crime punish-to lay down My life, and I have power to take it again."

Now, bear in mind that it was a crime punishable by de 'th under the Jewish law for a man to claim d 'tine honors, and if Jesus Christ was no more than a man it was no sin to crucify Him. If He was not divine the Jews were right, and under their law He ought to die, because He made himself the Son of God.

We haven't time to read the whole chapter; let us begin with the seventh verse: "I am the door of the sheep." If you go into Farwell Hall you must go in through Jesus Christ. In the twenty-eight werse He says of His sheep, "I give unto them eternal life, and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of My hand."

This word man is in italics, and if we leave it out the text will be "neither shall any"—neither shepherd had clutted awhile, one of them rose up and called out "Men-ah"! which, in Arabic, means "follow," and his sheep came out from the great flock and went back into the mountains again. He did not even stop to count them. Then shepherd No. 2 got up and called his sheep—"Men-ah"! and those of his flock left the others and followed him away.

My friend coull speak Arabic very well, so one day he said to a shepherd. "I think I could make your sheep follow me." II think I could make your sheep follow me." II think not." said the shepherd. "Give me your turban, and your cloak, and your crook," said my friend, "and we'll see." So he put on the shepherd's turban and his cloak, and took the crook in his hand, and stood up where the sheep could see him, and called out: "Men-ah! Men-ah" but not a sheep would take any notice of him.

"They know not the voice of strangers." My friend, asked the shepherd if the sheep nevar followed anybody but him. "O, yes. Sometimes a sheep gets sick, and then it will follow a stranger." Just so with us. Christians, said the speaker, we get sick and backslidden, and then we follow the devil.

Mr. Sankev then sang the new solo, "There's a light in the valley for me," after which the Rev. Mr. McChesney called attention to the third verse of the chapter: "He calleth He own sheep by name." Jesus the good Shepherd has a good memory, better than that of Cyrus, who knew the name of every soldier in his army; and as the ages go by He will not forget us, but on the resurrection morning He will call us all by name, and bring us up into he Heavenly pastures.

After prayer by the Rev. Dr. Savage, the meeting closed, and the were called. The woman's meeting in the main hall was led by that well-known and very successful gevival and missionary lady, Mrs. Jennis F. Willing. The incbriates' meeting in the Rible-room was in charge of Mr. Sharp as usual.

Mr. Moody announced two afternoon lectures at Farwell Hall on Thursday and Fricay of this week at 3 o'clock, at which he will repeat, by request, the two lectures which he gave in Chacago last summer on the Holy Spirit. At the converts' meeting last Monday night the main floor was nearly half filled with converts and inquirer. After some familiar remarks Mr. Moody set them to talk with one another. There was no singing, except such as they could do for themselves. It was announced from the managers' office that these Monday-night meetings will be continued every week.

In this connection it may be of service to call the attention of Mr. Moody to the fact that, in the standing advertisements in the newspapers and elsewhere, Messrs. Moody and Sankey are announced to lead gospel-meetings at the Tabernaele every evening in the week except Saturday. If this clash of announcements is acted that, it is a piece of carelessness that results in considerable disappointment. If it is an attempt to use Mr. Moody's name to "draw" in one place while at the same time he speaks in another, it is something known in business-circ.

THE TABERNACIE NOW IS THE TIME FOR REPERTANCE.

There was a good congregation at the Taber nacle, considering the excitement attendant or election. The opening prayer was by Dr. Tif fany.

Mr. Moody seemed to be in fresh spirits, and gave the announcements of the meetings as if the revival campaign were just about to open anew. "We have got the election out of the way," he said; "the ballot-boxes are closed tonight, the way is all clear, and now we have night, the way is all clear, and now we have nothing to do but to push on the work of the Lord. We are going to have the whole city canvassed, and I want all those who are willing to help in this work among the saloens and billiard-halls, and in every house in Chicago, to send in their names. There are a Breat many men running off to the saloons and theatres and other such places, where they are ruining their souls, and what wewant is tobring them here to the Tabernacle, where we can have the chance to preach the gospel to them. A Southern History of the United States.

New York Times.

The Bangor Whig is in possession of a little curiosity—"The New School History of the United States." It is a text-book in use in the public schools of Virginis and in other parts of the South, prepared from the Rebel standpoint, and perverting the facts of revent history with almost amusing shamelessness. The War for the Union is termed "The Sectional War," and Mr. Lincoln "the Sectional President." The right of secession is defined as a necessary part of State sovereignty, which had never been, for a moment, surrendered to the Federal Government. Of Butler it is said that "he received the name of 'Beast,' and by the common consent of Europe and America that name has become historical." Robert E. Lee, on the other hand, is depicted as a hero, whose "great deeds won for him a world-wife fame, and enthroused him in the hearts of the Southern people." The assassination of Lincoln is glossed over with the remark that "Booth committed the act under the fanatical idea that the War would terminate, and the South gain her freedom, if Lincoln was killed." The pirate Semmes is praised as a distinguished nawal commander: and the murderer Jackson as "a patriotic martyr," while his victim, Ellsworth, is characterized as a famous 'rough.'" Such is history, as written for the Southern youth!

The Robbers Interrupted by Accident, and Contrive to Escape.

made this evening to perpetrate one of the most infañous outrages which the mind of man can conceive of—that of stealing the bones and ashes of Abraham Lincoln. Unfortunately perpetrators escaped, leaving, however, evidences of their crime behind them, though the clews are next to nothing, if human ingenuity can track them to nothing, it human ingenuity can track them it will be done. Somehow or other, no one exactly knows how, J. C. Power, the custodian of the Lincoln monument, became impressed with the idea that there were designs upon the remains, and he communicated his suspicions to Leonard Swett and Robert Lincoln. They could hardly believe that any one, even the meanest and lowest scoundrel in the land, could conceive such a getting out of the stable, they concluded to lock the door-to adopt prefeeling. Accordingly, Swett wrote Col. Stewart, of this city, about two weeks ago, requesting him to station a guard at the monument. This was done, but no one came to disturb the corpse. Detective Tyrrell, of the United States Secret Service, whose headquarters are in Chicago, having business here, was requested by Swett and Lincoln to see Mr. Power, and to look around town, and watch for suspicious characters. He arrived here three or four days ago, and at once commenced a vigorous shadowing of several of the small hotels, but he saw nc one whom he recognized. This afternoon ed up Tyrrell and informed him that two very hard-looking cases had been out to the cemetery around, and he felt assured that they were there for no good purpose. One regis-tered as from Racine, and the other from Kenosha, Wis. Their names are suppressed, since they have had nothing to do with what red later. An effort will of course be made o find out who they are, and should they prove to be innocent injustice would be done them by to be mocent injustice would be done them by the telling now who they are. Mr. Power, not being used to detective work, could give but meager descriptions of them. The result of the interview with Tyrrell is unknown, but he must have concluded that election night was an excellent one in which to rob the tomb. This evening's train brought from Chicago ex-Chief of the Secret Service Elmer Washburn, who, "it seems, had been requested by Swett and Lincoln to come here and aid Tyrrell. About half-past 6 Washburn, Tyrrell, and three other men went out to Oakood and concealed themselves in Memorial Hall inside the monument to await developments. One man was posted in the labyrinth it the rear, so called because of the walls running in different directions and making numerous passage-ways, these walls supporting the terrace. His object was to hear the noise made in the vault if any were made. After patientwhen about tired out from standing still, the utmost silepoe being imperative, que heard grating noise which lasted perhaps five minutes.

Then, in a little while, came several successive thuds, as if some one was hammering. The time having arrived for action, Washburn and his men slipped out of the door, with cocked revolvers in their hands, determined to shoot to kill if any resistance was made. Just as they were turning the corner to the left one of the men accidentally explodedhis revolver. The noise was very loud, so still were the surroundings, and unfortunately it was too loud, for, though there were but about 120 feet to go over, when the officers got to the door of the vault the dastardly villains were gone. They must have had some one watching to give them the signal of danger or else had come outside for a breath of iresh air and heard the snapping of the cap and ran into the woods which sur-rounded the monument. It is but a short distance, and a man could get within shelter and be unobservable in a quarter of a minute. The men at once scattered, and went in the direction the thieves had gone, and, while dodging behind the trees, two of them ex-changed shots, each mistaking the other for one of the fugitives. After shoot-ing at each other, they cried "Wash," "Wash," indicative of a friend in such an emermiraculous that they escaped injury.

No traces of the thieves being discovered, the party returned to the catacomb, and there beheld a sight which made them sad. The body, as is known perhaps, is inclosed in a lead casket. This is surrounded by a cedar case, and the receptacle of these is a marble sarcophagus. The latter had a double lid, the upper one not being as large as the other. Both had been pried off with a chisel or an ax, and somewhat chipped in the operation. The under lid was laid cross-wise on the casket, the head-piece on the floor, and the upper lid standing against the wall. The casket itself was pulled out about a foot from the body of the sarcophagus, and a small piece had been taken off on the floor, where an ax with the edge full of marble-dust, an ordinary chisel, and a pair of nippers. The other tools had evideutly been taken away since the lock on the gency, and then they found out their mistake. The bullets whizzed close to both, and it was tron-grated door had been sawed off.

It should perhaps be stated that the sarcophagus was in the catacomb and not in the crypt, being thus placed in order that visitors might see it. The damage done is comparatively little.

The officers of course were disappointed at not catching the vandals, but they think it is only a question of a little time when they will be apprehended.

Only one motive can be attributed to these despoilers of the grave, and that is the hope of despoilers of the grave, and that is the hope of a reward for the restoration of the remains. If they had succeeded in carrying them off, it certainly could not have been their intention to take yay the casket, for it must weigh from 500 to 600 pounds, and haif a dozen men could not have carried it to the fence for transfer to a wagon in the road. It is more than likely that they intended to cut open the casket and gather up the bones and dust of the martyr-President and put them in a bag. What would have been the indignation of the country had this been done! The scheme concocted by these men is certainly unparalleled in the history of crime, and, now that there is evidence of minds so debased, it is certain that What would have been the indignation of the country had this been done! The scheme conceted by these men is certainly unparalleled in the history of crime, and, now that there is evidence of minds so debased, it is certain that measures will be taken to guard the movement and prevent future attempts. The facts given above did not come until early this morning, and are known to only a few, otherwise the outrage would have occupied as great a share of the attention of the community as the election. Words cannot express the feelings of those who do know it, and they fixed it that way.

BY THE CIVIL AUTHORITIES.

Correspondence New Fort Times.

Rows, Oct. 14.—The City of Bologna, which, after Rome, was by far the most important of those of the former Papal possessions, has long shown itself one of the most radical in its anti-Papal synapathies. For several years past have been held in various cities what have been called Catholic Congresses, and this year Bologna was chosen as the place of reunion. The impression among Italians is, that these meetings of Catholic delegates are meant as demonstrations of hostility to the Government of the country, and some of the proceedings in past years have justified such an opinion. The Congress, in coming together the present week, had hardly completed its organization before it became evident that the feeling in the town was so strongs against it, that, unless the authorities took a decided stand on one side or the other, the risk was great of public confusion. The Church of the Trinita had been transformed into a hall of reunion, and the presiding officer was the Cardinal Moriehini. Among the delegates were many holding a very respectable position in the Catholic party, and there were present half a dozen or more Bishops. The show of hostility on the part of the public began on the first day, by the gathering of large numbers in the streets near the place of reunion, saluting with hisses and howlings the members as they came out. Then, from the windows all over the town was hung out the national flag, a symbol not yet accepted as orthodox by the friends of the Pope in the old States of the Church. A procession was formed, followed by a confused crowd, which moved to the residence of the Prefect for the purpose of asking that, for the preservation of the peace of the Church. A procession was formed, followed by a confused crowd, which moved to the residence of the Catholic movement. It soon became evident, by the number of those taking part in the demonstration and their condition as cilizens, in what direction the current of public feeling was generally

FRANCE.

PARIS, Oct. 23.—In the Journal Official of yesterday are publiched the Exchequer receipts for the nine months ending the 30th of September. The amount received as contributions directes amounts to 514,490,400f, against the roll figure of 406,-095,300f, showing an excess of 48,396,200f, against 46,815,700f, the excess in 1875. There is therefore an increase of 1,579,300f for this year. The tax on the income of valeurs mobilieres has produced 27,960,000f of the estimate of 35,174,000f for the whole year. The total revenue for the nine mouths from imposts to receive indirectes is 501,428,000f,—that is, 107,379,000f above the Budget estimate of 1,394,049,000f for that period. The amount received during the corresponding months of 1875 was 1,458,315,000f. Of these, stamps have brought in $14,000,000f, against 116,000,000f anticipated in the Budget, the home sugar tax only 4,000,000f, against 6,000,000f, the tax on foreign. alt 4,000,000f against 6,000,000f, estimate of 1,000,000f. ipated in the Budget, the home sugar tax only 4,000,000f, against 6,000,000f, the tax on foreign salt 4,000,000f less than the estimate of 21,000,000f, and soap 1,717,000f less than the Budget value of 6,434,000f. On the other hand, the amount from general customs is 30,000,000f above the estimate of 104,688,000f; from excise of spirituous liquors, 81,000,000f over the estimate of 281,-326,000f; and from rates on registry hypothec 4,000,000f above the estimate of 833,089,000f. The receipts of the nine months in question of this year, compared with the corresponding months of last year, show a diminution in the case of colonial sugars for this year of 6,000,000f on 122,000,000f in 1875, and in that of matches two millions on seven, whereas there is an increase in the case of home sugars of 9,330,000f on 75,432,000f in 1875; in the case of general customs of 12,788,000f on 122,555,000f; and of 7,-$13,000f on 229,652,000f in that of tobacco. I have only taken the chief cases of increase and diminution, and I have omitted cases in which an increase was merely due to an addition to the tax.

PROPOSED INCOME TAX.

At Saturday's meeting of the Budget Committee M. Rouvier's proposal of an income tax was discussed. The discussion will be continued on Tuesday. M. Rouvier proposes to tax all incomes which reached during the foregoing year the sum of 1,200f, about £83, at 50 centimes per 100f, that is at ½ per cent, for the year 1877. Within three months after the law is passed every resident in France will be obliged to declare the amount of his income during the foregoing year to the Mayor, Prefect, or Director-General of Contributions Directes, this declaration to be renewed every year. These declarations are to be made according to the following five schedules: A, income from lands; B, revenue from building; C, profits from commerce and industry, including those of farmers; D, revenue from personal property, includings the interest of French and foreign Government, Departmental, and Communal stocks, of mortgages, and generally all interest and dividends of French and foreign valeurs inobilizers; E, salaries and payments of artistic professions. The accuracy of the declarations is to be ascertained by Communes, at whose annual meeting for fixing of the direct contributions the Comptroller of the Circuit is to be present. Every person liable would have a right of appeal to the Prefectoral Council, and from that to the Conseil d'Etat.

A Short Cut to Eternity.

Si. Louis Republican.

The bridge is fast gaining a reputation as a short cut to eternity. We have had two or three sensational affairs there already, and vesterdity added one to the list. About ten minutes after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the pedestrians in the vicinity of the west pier, or at the point where the central span begins, were horrified to see a man spring from a position which he had taken on the outside of the railing, and then, gyrating in the air as he passed swiftly through the great distance from roadway to water, strike the latter with a loud splash, and disappear. Instantly several persons rushed to the spot whence he had leaped, and watched the water intently in expectation of seeing him come to the surface. But there was a stain of blood on the water, caused by the tremendous concussion, and that was all. If the body rose at all, it was so far down as not to be visible from the bridge. Certain it is that the poor wretch was dead before he had stopped descending. He was a goodlooking young man, about 25 years old, of medium height, light hair, goatee, and complexion, and well dressed. Near the place from which he jumped was found a brand-new overcost, that had probably been worn but a few hours. In its pocket was found a large leather rocketbook, indicating that the owner was a man of business. It contained $347.08 in tills of various sizes. A Short Cut to Eteruity.

Spanish Pilgrimage Rome.

Reactionary Address of the Archbishop of Granada.

How the Spanish Minister Was Insulted by His Ultramontane Countrymen.

Correspondence London Times.

Roma, Oct. 17.—The tattered, weather-beaten flag carried so prominently in St. Peter's yesterday was that of a Spanish ship which fought at Lepanto. It has been preserved since then in a church in Catalonia, but the object in bringing it to Rome had no reference to the Eastern question or the present relations between the Vatican and Turkey. It was brought as a testimony of the blood Spain has shed and ing it to Rome had no reference to the Eastern question or the present relations between the Vaticari and Turkey. It was brought as a testimony of the blood Spain has shed and the prominent part she has always taken in defense of the rights of the Church, and as a fitting object to be carried at the head of that band of pilgrims which the Archbishop of Granada, in his address to the Pope yesterday, described as the advanced guard of that army of saints which is to gather and DRIVE OUT THE MODERN UNDELLEVER AND USUAPER from the States and the Church. I cannot give you the exact words used by the Archbishop. I purposely turned a deaf car yesterday to what he was reading, that I might not have cause to betray the hospitality extended to me, and the political portion of the address has not been published. But to-day its full purport has been communicated to me through a thoroughly trustworthy source. It was reactionary in the fullest sense of the term, and in direct opposition to that tone of moderation I am informed his Holiness recommended. But the Archbishop had the Carlist element of the pilgrimage to content. They had come in numbers with their chiefs, and had already been sufficiently disappointed. Their desire to demonstrate publicly had been reprehended by the higher ecclesiastical anthorities, who had greater fear of their zeal than even the civic functionaries of the State; their consignment of Carlist uniforms had been discovered and impounded at Civita Vecchia, and with them chistory of modern pilgrimages, laymen, who have hitherto played a prominent part in the presented from participation at the foot of the throne, and the leaders stood in the crowd undistinguished among the rest. Nothing remained but the flag of the "advanced guard," and so it could not be passed over in silence.

WHAT WERE THE PRETENSIONS OF THE CARLISTS may be judged from their proceedings afthe Vatican entrance to the Vestbulle of the Basilica, which was placed under their charge. They took upon themseives to decide who should or ter's, but when he found that tickets had been granted to many members of the diplomatic body accredited to the Quirinal, that a number of the Italian nobility were to be there, that ladies of distinction who were neither Spaniards nor Catholics were going, and, in short, although the doors of the Basilica were to be closed, the occasion was to a great extent a semi-public affair, he saw no impropriety in his being present, as, moreover, he was furnished with some tickets for the Scala Regia entrance and some cards for the Sacristy, of any of which he could avail himself. But the privileged entrance through the Sacristy was understood to be reserved for distinguished non-Spaniards and for the diplomatic corps accredited to the Holy See. In neither of these capacities could Count Coello claim to enter that way, and, though he had the means, the fact of his being a diplomat not accredited to the Holy See was sufficient to pre-means, the fact of his being a diplomat not accredited to the Holy See was sufficient to prevent his using them. He preferred to GO AS A PRIVATE GENTLEMAN, and enter with the other Spaniards. To fulfill that intention he determined to go on foot, unattended by any servant in livery, and accompanied only by one gentleman, Senor Martinez della Rosa, nephew of the distinguished statesman who rendered so many services to the Church. At the door of the Scala Regis they were asked who they were. The Minister replied, "I am Count Coello, Minister of his Catholic Majesty," and way was immediately made. On arriving at the entrance to the Vestibule, and before they could present their tickets, one of the Carlist Joorkeepers accosted his Excellency with, "You are Count Coello, you can't enter here." "And wherefore?" asked the Minister. "You have recognized the sovereignity of Victor Emmanuel and are UNWORTEN TO STAND IN THE PRESENCE OF HIS HOLINESS."

you can't enter here." "And wherefore?" asked the Minister. "You have recognized the sovereignty of Victor Emmanuel and are UNWORTEN TO STAND IN THE PRESENCE OF HIS HOLINESS."

The Minister drew attention to the tickets with which he and Signor Martinez della Rosa were provided, and asked by whose authority they were ignored, and how he, as a Spaniard, dared to bar the entrance to a representative of his Kings, properly furnished with the means of admission. But the Carlists would listen to no reason, and, when asked their names by the Minister, replied to the effect that it was no affair of his who they might be. To the credit of the Swiss Guard they interfered, but without effect. An officer politely offered to accompany his Excellency to the door of the Sacristy, but he deellmed to enter by any other way than that through which he was entitled to pass.

I need scarcely add that this affair has done little to further the interests of the Carlists at the Vatican. The next morning Cardinal Franchi, the Marchese de Gregorio, General in the Pontifical army, the Cavaliere Riva de Guerro, Cameriere Segrete of his Holiness, and other gentlemen of distinction, called in person upon the Minister to

The instructions forwarded to the Spanish Minister pegarding this pidgrinusge are such as to show that his Government. distinctly disclaim all recognition of the persons composing it, except in so far as their being Spanish subjects traveling in foreign countries. He was notified that among the pilgrims were persons hostile to the Spanish Government declared distinctly that, should any of the pilgrims exceed the limits of religious purposes, he was to afford full protection to them. Spain, as a Catholic country, was well content that her citizens should go to obtain the blessing of the Holy Father, but the Spanish Government declared to heave

Fair Hair and Blue Eyes a Germany.

Leadon Times.

For a long time the idea of a German, more particularly a German lady, was that he or she had blue eyes and fair hair. The Germans themselves have frequently protested against this sweeping assertion, and a careful examination of a German regiment or of a German school would have sufficed to show the strong admixture of black hair and brown eyes. But anthropologists went on asserting their own views, formed on what they called their own long expeience till at last the public insisted on having the matter settled by a regular census.

Government assented, and on a certain day every school in Prussia had to make a return of the black and blue and brown color of the children's eyes. Many of the pupils came home on that day telling their parents, with a mysterious air, that their eyes and hair and skin had been examined at school. Some of the parents thought it an undue interference with their rights, but the thing was done, and angry orotests against what the Government commands or allows to be done are of little avail in Germany. After a short time the results of this authropological commission have been published, and they are, as all events, curious, though, perhaps, not of much scientific value.

The unmber of persons examined in Prussia amounted to 4.127,708. Out of that number 4,070,238 were under 14 years of age. With regard to the color of the kair. With regard to the color of the hair 72 per centum had blonde, 27 per centum brown and 1.21 per centum, black hair. With regard to the color of the skinfrussia has only 6.32 per centum of brunette complexion. In Bavaria the brunette complexion chairs, 15 per centum, the black hair 5 per centum, the branette complexion of the barry per centum, the branet as the invasion of the barbarians into the Roman Empire.

The report contains a number of curious observations, for instance, that nearly one third of the Jewish school children are fair, which would certainly not be the impression left upon a casual spectator b Fair Hair and Biue Eyes n Germany. BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S CLETERS.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 25.—Why do I return so soon! Because the South is almost as hermetically sealed against strangers as was China 100 years ago, no matter what may be the motive for the expedition to them. So, with a letter from Mr. Rogers, my way was made easy to the North. After riding twelve hours in a northwesterly direction from Savannah, the first full stop was made at mah, the first full stop was made at ATLANTA, GA.

This is the Capital of the State, and is also called the "Gateway" into Gergia. It was entirely destroyed by fire during the War, but, like Chicago, is clastic. It has ten flourishing banks, five railroads entering it, does a large husiness in cotton and tobacco, and is unusually busy and prosperous in minor matters. Its beopulation is now exceedingly miscellaneous, numbering foreigners and Yankees in almost equal proportions. The Yankees are especially velcome for the money they bring. It is a queerlooking town, as if it had been caught up in a lerce hurricane late one Saturday night, but, while undergoing the hardest twisting, was indically surprised by Sunday, and, like a and girl, settled right down in a heap, ind promised to be good in the midst of its naughtiness. The soil, as is all the soil in these mountainous regions, is of a red-brick color. There are reads or paths, but no sideraiks or fences. The bouses are built in any and seemed. or fences. The bonses are built in any shape, or size, and crowded so closely upon dewalk that the latter is forced into the rect. Indeed, the whole town is a collection bills, so steep, narrow, and hobbly, and is yered with a fine dust, that one wearies with imperative and numberless ascents and de-mist that must be made in order to obtain even view of it. It is the busy town of scents that must be made in order to obtain even a birdseye view of it. It is the busy town of the State, and money-getting has been so essentially the object of their lives that no time has been spared by the people for internal or external ornamentation to person or property.

A very pleasant feature here is that one depot furnishes both landing and shelter for all the roads centering at this place. At the same time that I arrived from the South, a crowd of ladies came from the North, on their way to their respective homes; and all were obliged to wait several hours in order to make connections. It is astonishing what an amount of gossiping will be done by entire strangers while "waiting for the wagon." Here were

TWELVE OR PIPTEEN SOUTHERN LADIES (in the true sense); some had been to New York, others to the Centennial, and all had been visiting farther North than Atlants. I was the only one Northward-bound. After getting acquainted among themselves, my turn to goesip soon came. They cross-questioned me in a manner offensive and defensive. "You neither look nor net tike a Southern lady," said one to me, preparatory to opening a conversation, which I had been slow in joining, for I was writing; moreover, I would rather listen to them than share the talk. "No," I rejoined, "I belong to the North, and am now on my way back." This was too abrupt to satisfy them, and I saw that nothing short of "freedom of speech" would be in order; so I told them my errand to Savannah, which was an immediate entree into their good graces. I also gave them a full account of the snoth, and an now on my way back." This was too abrupt to satisfy them, and I saw that nothing short of "freedom of speech" would be in order; so I told them my errand to Savannah, which was an immediate entree into their good graces. I also gave them a full account of the snoth, and in the sitted to meet them freely in a friendly discussion, the burden of which was the ill-feeling existing between the North and South, upon which I said, in substance, that, diamong themselves, my turn to gossip some ame. They cross-questioned me in a manner diensive and defensive. "You neither look nor at tike a Southern lady," said one to me, presentory to opening a conversation, which I had een slow in joining, for I was writing; more ver, I would rather listen to them than share the talk. "No," I rojoined, "I belong to the forth, and am now on my way back." This rat too abrupt to satisfy them, and I saw that othing short of "freedom of speech" would be a order; so I told them my errand to Savansh, which was an immediate entree into their pod graces. I also gave them a full account of he unfortunate city and its people. When they drolly questioned me as to my impressions of he South, I did not hesitate to meet them free fin a friendly discussion, the burden of which as the ill-feeling existing between the North and South, upon which I said, in substance, that, As the animosity had been growing more biter for urany years before the War, on account Savary, and as the War, instead of opening way for barmony, had simply been an extra edge to thrust us still farther apart, perhaps and almients of the south to face other's ghts, and good fellowship, through the silver, and so oringing about a recognition of each other's ghts, and good fellowship, through the silver, and so good fellowship, through the silver, and so good fellowship, through the silver, and so grantled the Greet Chicago Fire. Though the signal through the public seems to be less against the members of the pury than against Judge McAllister, who is charged with the most mannest partiality throughout the trail; first, in his was made a universal extartorphe, we appreciated the effect Chicago Fire. Though the silver was made a universal extartorphe, we appreciated the mices from the South more than all the there gifts put toughter, because we realized too fell the fine pencirable icinese that had congealed for the defense, while the widest was made a universal catastrophe, we appreciated the mites from the South more than all the other gifts put together, because we realized too well the impenetrable ichness that had congealed the hearts of your people against us And, as if the wedge were not sufficiently removed to warrant a continuance of the good-feeling thus created, hardly a year elapsed when Boston was in fiames. Your sympathy again voluntarily showed itself by sending material help to the vary city sinch had made theself so obnoxions to you by its Anti-Slavery and other peculiarily Radical principles as to be quite out of the pale of Southern redemption or torgiveness. Then, as if the North was becoming paralyzed with the generosity that had poured in upon us from everywhere. Surveyport and Memphis, and three years later, your own beautiful city of Sarannah, have been decimated by the terrible pestilence of yellow-fever. We have lent you money, goods, nurses, and physicians, together with our heartiest sympathy for your trials and zorrows. Has not a wise Providence ruled all these years, and is He not quietly burying the sword and tomahawk, and bringing to the surface only kindness and peace, such as should alone exist between a people situated as we are!".

This conversation extended over something life two hours; then we had a short "Quaker-meeting," which was interrupted by one of the ladies, who said to one at her skie, "What this lady has said in regard to the troubles between the North and South is true, and she has opened my eyes to the other side of our bad feeling towards them; but it is strange that.

That "That"

To insure their further confidence in me, I offered to read to them a letter which I was preparing on Savannah. I was immediately surrounded by them, and received many warm expressions of gratude for the fairness to the South which they said was manifest through. As the time drew near for us to separate, each offer shook me cordially by the hand, with "Allow me to kiss you," as one and finally all the to pouder upon the left me to pounder upon the insight of Southern character and the rich experience that Atlanta had given me.

As the aye is rightly called "the window of the soul," so may women be said to be the window of the soul," so may women be said to be the window of the nation, they represent. In other words, women are what men teach them to be. I found the men of the South yery bitter and hostile to the North-ide intensely bitter for words to express it. The sight of a Northerner produces something akin to hydrophobia. The women are scorniul, and slow to pardon any one for having had a Northern birthplace; but the above interview, and several others as pleasant, make me think that they (the women) are ready even now to start make me think that they (the women) are ready even now to previded the proper sympathy and encouragement are extended to them. The men will die abhuting hatred and defiance to the North with their last breath. Through the Southern women only can the Southern men be redeemed from their implacable hatred toward us, and our whole country be saved from further disaster. Our Northern women must de this work; they must carry the baim to heal the gaping wound. The Southern women conscientionaly judge our men by the deep, unforgiving hostility which their own have for us.

The Church at the South rules the masses as completely as it does in Europe. This is easily done where the masses are not aducated, as is the case both in Europe and in the South; only a few, comparatively, can read and write. All belong to some church and are very exact in the outward show of religion; but only a few, comparatively, are correct in moral ways or knowledge, which is so essential to complete the truly religious character. Each, in my party of ladies at Atlanta, represented a different church, and all had concurred that "Their minister had never taiked to them as I had." This made me wonder if the experiment of sending missionaries to the Southern clergymen, as well as teachers to the heathen, would not give us better retur Cumberland River and mountains. Nashville is especially proud of her Capitol, her two Unversities, her Medical School, her Colored Theological School by the very door of Vanderbilt University, and her State Prison, beside many other schools and churches. The Capitol is a very sedate-looking building, and stands like a huge mountor in the midst of the people. It is of a bluish-gray limestone, quarried in Nashville; is 133 feet wide, 238 feet long, 205% feet high, and has 386 steps leading to the top, which fools are allowed to climb.

The Vanderbilt University is a handsome building, exquisitely finished, and has just entered upon its second year. It has 300 students. It is significant that only one of these halls from the North. Bishop H. N. McTyeire is the perpetual President of the Board of Trustees, and to him is given the right to yeto any question which may come before them, by Commodore Vanderbilt, who has already given $700,000 to the institution. To each member of the Faculty is furnished a house and garden, beside his salary. Everything pertaining to the University shows the generous heart and mind of the founder. Women are not excluded.

wanting some, with his bare hand. Prison-life need not necessarily be reformatory.

THE PISK UNIVERSITY

is the institution for educating colored men and women for the different walks of life, all the way from preparing a good meal to higher mathematics, the classics, and theology. It is built with the money which has been raised by the Jubilee Singers. It is a fine six-story brick building, handsomely finished, and elegantly furnished throughout. Instead of numbering 250 students, which it can well accommodate, it only counts sixty at present. The students work part of their course by devoting one hour daily to housework, and the rest to study and recreation. The Faculty is composed of five gentlemen and eight ladies. These teachers are white, are well educated and talented, and capable of adorning the very elite of Southern society; but every one of them is ostracized from all white society in the South, because their principles lead them to help the blacks. Only one place in Nashville admits them freely, and that is the State Prison, where many of them go each night to teach the criminals something of Stripture. The Southerners regard these bands of teachers as far below the negroes they teach. It is in a a place like Nashville, where whites labor for and with the blacks, that the dangust and bitterness of the white Southerners are shown in every conceivable manner. The aristocracy founded on Slavery has bred in the whites such loathing for labor not obtained at the expense of freedom, that it is hard for them to associate any other leas than degradation with those who either labor themselves, or encourage labor in others not slaves. From the North comes the impulse to universal freedom; and the bitterness of the Southern people to us is two-fold; first, because we honor all work; and, second, because we have insisted that they shall do the same.

be inder the statute, although they had read the being which did not stand in the way, they staid of the presention, offered in rebuttal of some secondly, in ruling out important evidence of the presention, offered in rebuttal of some for the defense, while the widest range was given to the defense; thirdly, in his final instructions to the Jury, which almost required a verdict of acquittal; fourthy ly, in his refusing to allow the Jury, who are, in this State, longers of both law and facts, to have a copy of the statute defining nurder and manisuratier; and fifthly, in that he forthwith admitted the prisoner to bail in $7,000, declaring that he did to believe he was guilty of meck. I'll the trial was concluded, and then business men.

The popular feeling was held in check till the trial was concluded, and then business men.

It is not for us, of course, to pronounce that the law-points were wrongly decided by the Judge, who may be supposed to know the law better than many of his critics; and it may be that his ruling will be sustained by those who have legal learning. Yet something may be at least suspected from the general bearing of a Judge, and the steady drift in one direction of his decisions; especially when he is selected, out of all the eight Judges in the county, by the prisoner himself, as the only one by whom he was willing to be tried. Judge McAllister laid down, in favor of the prisoner, a doctrine of the right of a man to carry and to use a pistol, which not only seems to contradict the expressed words of the statute against carrying concealed deadly waspons, but places all our lives in peril from any irrate and pusicious person who chooses to go around with a concealed pistol among unarred citizens, engaging first in a fist-encounter, and then drawing his pistol and firing, when he find he is in danger of getting the worst of the affray,—he being, as the Avery curious case of arsenie poisoning has just occurred in Paris. A rich lady residing in the Faubourg 8t. Honore found herself growing ill, and the doctor pronounced her to be suffering from some slow poison. Mmc. X. rejected the idea as absurd, but, on rising one morning, found a glass of water, which was usually placed by her bedside, to be discolored by a white flimy powder. On showing this to the doctor, he at once declared it to be arsenic. All inquiries failed to detect the culprit, and the next night malane filled the glass herself, and kept careful watch that no one meddled with ft. Nevertheless, in the morning the white powder again made its appearance, and the doctor was fairly at his wite end to find the cause. Finally he discovered that his patient was in the haolt of reading in bed, and for that reason candles were kept burning all night in her room. These candles, of a dazzling whiteness, had been strongly impregnated with arsenic during their bleaching process, and the doctor and a dazzling whiteness, had been strongly impregnated with arsenic during their bleaching process.

THE STATE PRISON

Was the next institution to which I directed my stope. This place doesn't like to be visited. It has 975 men, both white and black, and only fifteen women. I discovered two very interesting features in this prison: one is, that the State has regularly leased the prisoners out to private parties for the last ten years; and the other is, that the prisoners go from their miscellaneous work of painting, smithing, carpentering, digging, etc., immediately to their dinner, in a low, dark basement of the prison, without the invigorating ablution with soap-andwater as an appetizer. One of the waiters at table was a huge colored man, who passed around with an old, worn basket full of scraps of cold meat, which he dished out, to those wanting some, with his bare hand. Prison-life need not necessarily be reformatory.

of Canal Commissioners.
WILLIAM THOMAS,
General Superintendent The Pastest Yacht in the World.

Considerable interest has lately been excited at Geneva by the trial of a new steam yacht, built by Messrs. John J. Thornycroft & Co., Church Wharf, Chiswick, for the Baroness Adoiphe de Rothschild. This vessel, although only 91 feet long by 13½ feet beam,—just large enough to contain the accommodation for a day's comfortable cruising on the lake,—has attained and kept up a speed greater than that of any ocean steamer afloat, and only equaled, perhaps, by some of the largest American river steamers. The Gitana is rigged as a fore-and-aft schooner, is built of steel, and is on similar lines to the Sir Arthur Cotton, built by Messrs. Thornycroft & Co. for the Indian Government, and which, without rigging or cabin accommodation of any kind, attained a speed of 24.61 miles per hour on the measured mile. The accommodation on board the Gitana consists of a large saloon, pantry, and dressing-room forward, and a galley-cabin for the crew, and store-room, aft of the engines. The engines are compound direct-acting, fitted with an injection condenser, and, with a view to reducing vibration as much as possible, were made with three cylinders acting on cranks set 120 degrees apart. The high-pressure cylinder is thirteen and a half inches in diameter by sixteen inches stroke, and the two low-pressure cylinders are each lifteen mices in diameter by sixteen inches stroke, and the two low-pressure cylinders are each lifteen mices in diameter by sixteen inches stroke. The boiler is of the locomotive type, of Bessemer steel, with a copper fire-box and brass tubes. The speed guaranteed was eighteen English statute miles per hour in a run of two hours' duration—i. e., thirly-six English statute miles in two hours, subjet, in the event of failure, to the yacht being thrown on the buildglish statute miles per hour in a run of two hours' duration—i. c., thirty-six English statute miles in two hours, subject, in the event of failure, to the yacht being thrown on the builders' hands; and, as high speed was to be one of the principal attractions in the yacht, the Baroness Rothschild agreed to pay a premium on each mile above thirty-six run in the two hours. She was crected at La Bellote, on the shores of the lake, by workmen sent from England. The trial was made on the 21st of September,—the Baroness Rothschild and Lady Emily Peel being on board, and having as scientific advisers Messrs. Paul Carrie and Emil Sicard, French engineers. The Chiswick firm was represented by Mr. John T. Thornycroft and Mr. List. The distance between Geneva and Villeheuve, forty-turee English miles, was run in 1h. 48m. 22s., being at the rate of 23.89 English statute miles, or very nearly 20% knots per hour. During the first twenty miles a light head wind and solle waves were encountered, which reduced the speed somewhat, but during the remainder of the run the lake was quite smooth. The boiler pressure averaged 100 pounds per sequare inch. vacuum twenty-tour inches, and the enginees made from 300 to 325 revolutions per minute and developed about 450 indicated horse-power. At the conclusion of the trial the Baroness Rothschild expressed her entire satisfaction with the yacht and her performance.

Wade Hampton's Financiering.

Lomiscus (Ky.) Commercial.

Gen. Wade Hampton, who wanted to reform Gov. Chamberlain's Administration, has not shown much financial ability in his own case. He is a petitioner in bankruptcy in the United States Court, with the following sum of debts and assets: Debts, $1,085,081; assets, $142,443. He was over head and ears in debt before the War, and seems to have plunged deeper in debt after he knew that he was utterly insolvent.

During the early part of the year in which he went into bankruptcy, he purchased mules of J. T. Coates, of St. Louis, for $4,320, and paid him with a bankruptcy notification,—this gentleman, like all other unsecured creditors, not realizing a cent.

Here are the debte of this eminent financier, over whose canvass the Solid South faction ran stark mad;

NEW YORK. TILDEN'S MAJORITY PROM 10,000 TO 20,000.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8-5:45 a. m.—Tilden's majority in this State is estimated at from 10,000 to 20,000.

In New York Congressmen, the latest reports give the Republicans a gain of one, making eighteen Republican to fifteen Democratic Representatives. The electrical the Hon. Democratic Representatives. The election of the Hon. Ely Spaulding in the Thirty-second District is claimed by himself, but considered doubtful. If he is right the gain will be two. Gen. McCook is elected in the Eighth District over Elijah Ward. L. P. Morton is probably defeated in the Eleventh.

The Heraid regards the result as doubtful, putting South Carolina as the uncertain and decisive State.

The Tribune concedes Tilden's election.

The Assembly of New York will be Democratic, probably, by a majority of 11, the returns electing 58 Republicans and 69 Democrats. The last Assembly was composed of 71 Republicans and 57 Democrats. Among the Republicans elect is Dr. Hayes, the Arctic explorer.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

NEW YORS, Nov. 8.—The Tribune says: "Tilden and Hendricks are undoubtedly elected by a fair majority of the Electoral College. They have probably carried the Solid South with the ble exception of South Carolina and Louisiana; have carried New York by from 20,000 to 30,000 majority; Connecticut by about 1,500 majority. They have carried Indiana by 10,000 majority. Their total vote in the Electoral College is likely to exceed 200.

Hayes and Wheeler have carried all the New Eggland States, except Connecticut; Pennsylvania and all the Western States, except Missouri. Their vote in the Electoral College will not fall below 150.

The Republicans retain control of the United States Senate, but their majority, which is now 15, will certainly be reduced to 10, and possibly to 6. The House of Representatives is in doubt. News thus far received makes it apparently Democratic by 18 later information may increase this, or give it to the Republicans by a very small majority. In Massachusetts, Adams has run behind Til-den a little, and Rice is elected Governor by a vote slightly below that for Hayes.

In New York the Congressional delegation is mbstantially unchanged, with a possible Republican gain of one or two. lean gain of one or two.

Returns from South Carolina, Louisiana, Florida, and Wisconsin, are inconclusive, and to news whatever has been received from the

The Tribune's editorial says: "The hope-cal aspect of Tilden's election lies in the possidity that all our fears were groundless, our sus-pictons and our doubts, to say the least, unjust. There is no need now to go over the record and recount our reasons for distrust. That argument is closed, and a decision adverse to our hopes has been given by the majority. Our hope as patriots now must be that Tilden was only sincere when he professed to be in favor of genuine administrative reform and sound currency, and opposed to the payment of Confederate war claims; but that he will have the courage of his convictions, the stubbornness of will and purpose, to insist upon what he has professed to believe in, and suffi-cient backing in his party to be able to carry out his views. We have opposed him partly because of natural doubts of his sincertty, inspired by his record as a party manage and public man; more because of doubts of his and public man; more because of doubts of his actual ability to resist and overcome the spirit and purpose of the party behind him. Now that he is elected President, it is only fair that we lay aside any pride of opinion we may have; that we indulge in no spirit of mere factious opposition, but how that he will do and he all that he but hope that he will do and be all that he has promised and professed, and disappoint those who have doubted rather than those has promised and professed, and disappoint those who have doubted rather than those who have trusted him. Laying aside, then, the manifold reasons for doubting his earnestness as a refermer, and his ability to enforce reforms, we may content ourselves with remembering that there are some things in connection with his public service as Governor which do not leave us without hope of some good from his administration, and we may also find some encouragement in the reflection that he has every incentive of personal ambition to administer the Government in the interest of the whole people and not of his party, and so crown his public career, which, according to his own letter of acceptance, must culminate in a single Presidential term, with such great and distinguished service as shall round out his life and complete his fame. It is no secret that among the best minds of the Democratic party the hope is harbored that the administration of President Tilden will be such a disappointment to self-seckers and plunderers, who are expecting so much from it, that the party will be divided and broken up over it within a year. We have not been credulous of such result, but there is a probability of it. Should it happen, the new Administration will need and will receive the hearty sympathy and support of thousands who did not give Tilden their votes. However that may be, there is but one plain duty for to-day, and that is to recognize the will of the majority, and, until the new President has done something to forbid, to give Tilden their works. However that may be, there is but one plain duty for to-day, and that is to recognize the will to be true to his own professions to himself and to the country, and give us a wise and honest Administration."

INEW YORK SUS.

The Sus says: "The Dlow dealt at the corrupt party m power by an indignant people is as unning to the Republicans as it is gratifying to every honest and patriotic man in the Union. As becomes her prestige and position, New York leads the way. The overwhelming trium who have trusted him. Laying aside licans raised the false usue of the bloody shirt, Tilden and his coadjutors kept their eyes steadily on the real issue of this memorable contest: Reform in the civil-sorvice, reduction of Governmental expenditures, and the relief of capital and labor from the severe pressure under which they have been so long bowed down. We but state a pregnant fact, which no man more clearly recounizes than Tilden, that his election is largely due to the votes of Independent Republicans.

It is impossible to overestimate the beneficial results which are to flow from this triumph. We shall have peace in the South, and harmony between the North and South. We shall hear no more of the intervention of the bayonet in elections. The outrage-mill will cease to grind out its product of lies on eye of every important political campaign. Freedmen will pursue the noiseless tenor of their way; cast their ballots as they please, and learn at length that the chief end of the colored man is not to be the serf of the unprincipled politicians, who have heretofore used him to doist white rogues into places of power, where they could plunder and oppress the people. Business will revive, labor will find employment, capital will not shrink from investment, greenbacks will gradually appreciate to the value of coin, our bonds will pass current in foreign markets, and merchants, bankers, and manufacturers of this and other cities, who, on the evening of the election attempted to frighten the people from voting as they pleased, will, after calm reflection, become somewhat ashamed of their conduct.

One of the grandest results of this victory is of the election attempted to frighten the people from voting as they pleased, will, after calm reflection, become somewhat ashamed of their conduct.

One of the grandest results of this victory is the final overthrow of Grantism. It is the end of Grant himself, it puts the finishing touch to Hayes, who tried to step into his shoes. The vacation of such corrupt politicians as Chandler, Robeson, Babcock, Boes Shepherd and Don Cameron will no longer be profitable. Chameleons of the type of Schurz, Fenton, Banks, and Grow will disappear under the sod. Carpet-bag vermin, the kellogge, Caseys, Chamberlains, and Spencers will be swept from the face of Southern soil, which they have so long polluted.

The Times' editorial says: "The result of the Presidential election is still in doubt. Emough has been learned to show that the vote has been unprecedentedly heavy; that both parties have exhausted their full legitimate strength; that the peculiar Democratic policy for which such extensive preparations were made in the large registry in this city, and in the enormous registry in Brooklyn has had its effect, and that in some of the States where shot-gun and rifle clubs were relied upon to secure a Democratic victory, there is only too much reason to fear that it has been successful.

"From the State of New York, returns from the interior have, up to present writing, come in very slowly. Two hundred and twenty-three voting districts outside of the cities of New York and Brooklyn show a net Democratic gain over 1872 of 3,254. In that year the Republican majority outside of the two cities named was 79,720. This year New York City gives 53,500 Democratic, while the returns from the remainder of the State, there is little hope of overcoming this majority, and the Electoral vote of New York of the Will be cast for Mr. Tilden. That 1875 is largely due to fraud in New York and Kings County, and that an honest vote in these counties would have changed the result, and with it the result of the Presidential election, are conclusions tricts.

In Illinois also one district (the First) has been transferred to the Republicans. Thus our assured gains number twelve, with two doubtful districts converted into certainties, and the probabilities of yet larger accessions from Pennsylvania.

Northfield is 191 for Hayes and 78 for Tilden. THE POOR-HOUSE. THE PAUPERS FORCED TO VOTE FOR THE DE-MOCRACY.

Considerable interest was manisfested in the county at large, especially in the Third Con-gressional District, as to how the election would pass off in the Town of Norwood Park, the recollection being fresh in the memory of everybody that Mr. LeMoyne gained his seat in Congress in the Farwell contest through the pauper vote. To get at a correct idea of how that vote would be manipulated yesterday The Tribuns had a representative at the polls of the Second Precinct where the paupers were to vote. Two years ago the Asylum was fixed as the voting-place, and the change to the school-house had been made yesterday by the County Board only to relieve suspicion, and at the pressing demand of the few self-supporting citizens of the precinct. While the change was made, however, it really left the polls and the ballot-box in the control

It was objected to on the part of one or the challeners, at the itsiance of Commissioner Ayara, who had come all the way from Evanston, at the risk of issing his own vote, in the interest of the purity of the ballot, and to see to it that if the planer vote was atmitted reflected to the third of the purity of the ballot, and to see to it that if the planer vote was atmitted reflected to the legality of the year being accepted, and Mr. Ayars called attention to the law spon the subject as interpreted by Judge Sheldon, of the Supreme Bench, in 1884, in passing upon the case of the Town of Freeport ws. The Board of Superrisors of Stephenson County. The Board of Superrisors wanted the Town of Silver Lake to pay $1,274.58 to the Town of Freeport for the care of certain paupers and son-same persons from that town, on the ground that the removal of another than the planer of the plaintiff, whereupon an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, where the judgment of the plaintiff, whereupon an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, where the judgment of the lower Court was affirmed. endurance, and health, if once discovered, might launch them out upon the cold world, and from beneath the hand of a charity they had so long and disgracefully abused! It was amusing to see them. Heretofore they had been decrepid with age, bowed down with disease, and objects who could not fail to clicit the sympathy of the most unsympathetic; but yesterday they were as lithe and gay as three-fourths of the mea of their age met upon our streets every day. Their step was as clastic, and one could not help thinking that if the ballot had brought about the change that it would be a matter of public economy to hold an election a certain hour every day, and eventually to so separate the Poor Farm, and the polling-place that the inspiration of the ballot would lead them so far from their present abiding-place that they would go astray in the darkness of the night in searching the path leading back and "over the hill to the Poor-House." And if the officials who tolerate and encourage their indelence and mock pauperism for the sake of their votes, the Committee on Public Charities of the County Board, could be induced to follow them, the greater would be the blessing. and an outrage upon the right of suffrage. The vote in nowise represents the will of the people, and inasmuch as the whole affair is believed to be illegal, the affidavits, preserved carcuilly, may yet be heard from, and certainly will, to the damage of many, if the legal voters persist, as they threaten, in urging a contest in conjunction with certain candidates.

It was really astonishing what ignorance was archibited among the lower class of Germans in this city as regards the Presidential candidates of both parties. Nearly all of these people were nothusinstile for Tilden and Reform. Their reasons for this were various. One man insisted that he would vote for Tilden because he had made such a glorious fight against that "Plaff" seecher. "Plaff" is the German slang for clergyman. Special Dispatch to The Tribuna. NEW York, Nov. 8-2 a. m.—At the Natio and State headquarters this State is conceded to Tilden by 15,000. The majority in Kings County has risen to nearly 18,000, making a total of 71,000, which the rural vote cannot possibly overcome. How such a majority was obtained overcome. How such a majority was obta overcome. How such a majority was obtained in this city, and more especially in Brooklyn, is something the Republican leaders do not attempt to explain. The outside counties, so far as heard from, have in most cases done more than was promised for them. In Rensselaer County, Tilden's money caught the large floating yote. The Senate and Assembly are both Republican.

and as the majority in the Seniar has been by the election of a Republican from the Eric District. The Democrats gain at least two members of Congress in the State. In this city, with the possible exception of Calvin and Croker, all the nominees on the Democratic ticket have been elected. Gov. Dix was a few thousand behind the State ticket, while Judge Peabody is probably elected Surrogate and Mr. Stiner one of the three Coroners. This state of things is a suggestive commentary on the wisdom of those party managers who put a straight ticket for municipal and judicial offices in the field, and refused all cooperation with respectable Democrats opposed to SPRINGFIELD. Special Dispatch to The Tribuns.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 7.—The election here passed off comparatively quiet. There was only one serious disturbance, resulting from the har-assing challenging of old colored citizens by Democrats. The colored men, led a by naassing challenging of old colored citizens by Democrats. The colored men, led a by native African visiting here, marched over to the Democratic stronghold, the Second Ward, and on the way Maj. Gen. John A. McChernand marshaled an opposition crowd, and cried out, "White men, follow me tr victory!" More sober counsels prevailed, and a collision there was swolded. In the Second Ward a melec took place, and during the ight an Irishnan named Murphy was hit with a Frick, old seriously, and probably fashly, it jured. The vote was unusually arge, but is not yet fully counted, as the Democratic ticket is much scratched largely in face of Cullom. He carries the city and probably the county, He carries the city and probably the county, He carries the city and probably the county, The sangamon, from returns it will probably reach 600. Phelps, for Congress, runs ahead of his ticket in sever counties of this district. He carries Morgan Junty. Springer, however, is probably cased by a much decreased majority. The Publicans elect one creased majority. The Publicans elect one creased majority of the State of the Fribuna.

Rockforn, Ill., No. Decreased of the State of State of the State Town of Northeel and one precinct of Lake View to hear from.

Owing to the heavy vote and the long ticket the returns are very slow in coming in. It is apparent, however, that Tilden has carried the county, he having thus far 31,971 votes to 29,5% for Hayes. This elects the entire Democratic county ticket, except probably Jamieson, who runs badly. The county towns, except Palatine and Northfield, and one precinct of Lake View, give Hayes 7,577 and Tilden 5,357, but the city stands, with twenty-two precincts lacking, Hayes, 21,889; Tilden, 25,634.

On Congress it is safe to say Le Moyne is elected, beyond a doubt. In the Second District the Congressional returns are fragmentary on President. Hayes gets thus far 12,576 votes, and Tilden 13,341. Davis runs ahead of his ticket, but probably not enough to pull him through. In the First District, in the six wards, Hayes gets thus far 12,576 votes, and Tilden 8,015. In the county towns in the district embracing all but two precincts in Hyde Park, Aldrich 3,488, land Hoxie 3,046. In five of the nine towns of DuPage County, Aldrich has 1,285 votes, and Hoxie 40. Since Aldrich runs shead of Hayes in this city, it is safe to say that he has a good majority. On kepresentatives it is difficult to speak with accuracy. The Republicans have doubtless one in the Fifth, one in the Sixth, and one in the Second, one in the Third, one in the Fourth, two in the Seventh. The Democrats have doubtless one in the Fifth, one in the Sixth, and one in the Seventh. This leaves one doubtful in the First and Fourth. A Republican Seniator is elected in the Fourth, a Democrat in the Sixth, and one in the Sixth, the sixth with the Sixth, and one in the Sixth, and probably a Republican, may be elected along with Yoss, Democrat, and Thomas, Republican

Special Dispatch to The Tribuna.

JOLIET, Ill., Nov. 7.—The election in this city passed off very quietly, and, thanks to the Republicans, was the fairest that has occurred here for years. A total of 2,559 votes was polled. Tilden's majority is 527, a Democratic gain of 75 over the vote for Congressman two years ago. Cullom, for Governor, and P. C. Hayes, for Congress, will run considerably ahead of their ticket. No returns have been received from outside towns except Wilmington, where Tilden has 12 majority.

OTTAWA.

Special Dispatch to The Tribuna.

OTTAWA. Eleven towns in La Salle County give Hayes 123 majority, a Republican loss of 84 on the vote of 1872. Campbell, Democrat, for Congress, will probably have a small majority. The Legislative ticket is in doubt. The Republicans have certainly elected the Recorder, Sheriff, and State's Attorney.

LINCOLN.

Special Dispatch to The Tribuna.

LINCOLN. Ill., Nov. 8—1 a. m.—As near as can be ascertained, at 1 o'clock this morning, the Republican majority is about 200 in the county. The Democrate have elected the Clerk, Attorney, and Representatives.

and Representatives.

JACKSONVILLE.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

JACKSONVILLE, til., Nov. 7.—Tilden's majority in Morgan County is about 100. The entire Democratic county ticket is probably elected.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

SYCAMORE, Ill., Nov. — 3:18 a. m.—Sycamore gives Hayes 560; Tilden, 255; Cooper, 10; Lathrop (Republican), 335; Parasworth (Democrat), 285; Hurlbut (bolter), 26.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 8—3:45 a. m.—Milwaukee County elects five Republican and six Democratic Assemblymen, a gain of one Republican State Senator in the Fifth District, and Clerk of the Court and Sheriff; Democratic majority in the county, 1,887. The Democrats concede the State by a small majority. Returns are coming in slowly. cede the State by a small majority. Returns are coming in slowly.

JANESVILLE.

Special Dispatch to The Tribuna.

JANESVILLE, Wis., Nov. 8.—The election passed off very quietly, both parties polling a very full vote. Haves has 184 majority in the city. The county will give a Republican majority of from 2,400 to 2,700.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 7.—Returns from 176 towns and wards outside of Milwaukee give Hayes 1,034 majority, a net Democratic gain of 789. The Democrats have probably carried the State.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 7.—Returns of the vote for Congressmen are meagre. The following are probably elected: Wilhams, Republican; Orton, Democrat; Hazleton, Republican; Lynde, Democrat; Bragg, Democrat; Bouck, Democrat; Humphrey, Republican. The Eighth District is in great doubt.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 7.—Returns from Milwaukee County, complete with the exception of one town, give Tilden 1,787 majority, a Democratic gain over the vote for Governor last year of 518.

Two hundred and eight towns and wards, including the above, give Tilden 886 majority, a net Democratic gain of 1,299.

The State is very close, and the result doubtful. CONGRESSMEN.

GOOD-NIGHT.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8—3 o'clock a. m.—
The offices at which returns are received are all closed. Large mobs of drunken Democrats are making night hideous with bands of music and howle of exultation. The Republicans retire to consider to-morrow's returns, and are not without hop. They have not given up the ship.

TICKLED TILDENITIES. TICKLED TILDENITES.

The Democratic Committee closed its doors at 1 o'clock tals morning confident of the election of Tilden. The estimate by that Committee of the majorajes for Tilden at this hour is hes a k, 15,00c, Connecticut, 5,000; New Jeacy, 5,000; Louisiana, 15,000; Wisconsin, 1,500; Adiaba, 10,00c. THE BLECTORAL COLLEGE
The Democratic Committee's estimate of the general result in the Electoral College is:

Total. The enthusiasm of the Democracy since midnight has been boundless. The crowds have become noisy, and in some places turbulent. Some of those who are threatened with arrest shout with a maudlin leer that Uncle Sammy will bail them out. The Capital since midnight has be-

MURDER AND INTIMIDATION.

Special Dispatch to The Tribuna.

NEW ORLEANS, i.e., Nov. 7.—The election, so far as this city is concerned, passed off very quietly. Up to this hour not a single ward has been counted. This morning the United States Deputy Marshal at Monroe was shot while ou Deputy Marshal at Monroe was about while on his way to the polis, and very dangerously wounded, and will probably die. This fact had undoubtedly a depressing influence on the Republican voters in that (Ouachita) parish. This is the same parish in which Dr. Dinkgrave, Eaton Logwood, and Primus Johnson were recently assassinated. In East Felicians not a Republican vote was cast. In 1874 this parish gave 800 Republican majority. Really no legal election was held, the Commissioners refusing to act, as the Republicans were all hiding in the swamps. In Northern Louisiana, however, the Republicans gain very largely. Caddo will give 1,500 Republican majority, against a Democratic majority in 1874. DeSoto, in which ne Republican otes were cast in 1874, gives a Republican ma-

NEW ORLBANS.

The total vote in the city will reach #0,000, and the Democrats will have a majority of 10,000. Outside the city the Republicans are confident of receiving 20,000 or 25,000 majority, which will give a Republican majority in the State of from 10,000 to 15,000. The Republicans have undoubtedly elected Smith in the Fourth and Leonard in the Fifth District for Congressboth gains. The other districts are in doubt, but the Republicans are confident of the election of all six of the Congressmen.

and owing to the length of the ticket and the manner or counting them there will not proba-bly be one completed much before morning; consequently nothing better than estimates can be made to-night. There is no reason to change those already given.

INDIANA.

INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7-13 o'clock, midnight.—Returns from 230 townships and precincts in sixty-six counties give a net Democratic gain of 503 on the October vote. The Democratic majority in the State will not be less than 7,000.

EVANNILLE, Ind., Nov. 7.—Returns from eighteen precincts show a net Democratic gain of 172. Pigeon Township, complete, included in the above, shows a net Democratic gain of 172. Two precincts in the county not yet reported.

UNEXPECTED.

Two precincts in the county not yet reported.

UNEXPECTED.

Special Disputch to The Tribuna.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7.—Contrary to all expectations and all precedent, the total vote in the State will be from 8,000 to 10,000 larger than in October. The Independent vote will be about the same as cast then,—from 12,000 to 15,000.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7.—Returns from 340 townships and voting-precincts, or 34 per cent of the October vote heard from, gives a Democratic net gain of 476. The increased vote in these townships is 1,80.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Returns from 230 townships give Tilden 46,316; Hayes, 45,647. The same places in October gave Williams 45,486; Harrison, 45,819. Net Democratic gain, 502.

IOWA.

IOWA.

INDEPENDENCE.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

INDEPENDENCE, In., Nov. 7.—Three townships in Buchanan County heard from give Burdick, Republican, for Congress, 226 majority; same townships gave Kirkwood, for Governor, two years ago, 89, a Republican gain of 137.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 7.—Polk County, Lee Township, 421 majority for Haves; 440 majority for Cummings, Republican: Saylor Township, Hayes, 103; Tilden, 39; Cooper, 19. The county will probably give 1,700 to 1,800 majority for Hayes and Cummings, Republican Congressman.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 7.—One township only counted shows a Democratic gain of 2; returns from three precincts show a Democratic gain of 50 over 1875.

MASSACHUSETTS.

MASSACHUSETTS.

GENERAL RETURNS.

Boston, Nov. 7.—The day in New England has been the stormicts of the season, a pouring rain-storm having raged since last night. Nevertheless there has been a large vote polled and interest in the result has kept thousands on the streets all the evening watching the illuminated bulletins of the newspapers. The result in the State on the national issue has been much as expected. Hayes' majority will run up near to 40,000. Rice's plurality for Governor will be as near as can now be estimated rising of 20,000. Charles Francis Adams has run even with Tilden in the estern part of the State and perhaps a little in advance in the western part, from which, however, but few returns are vet received. Baker, the candidate of the Prohibitionists, Woman-Suffragists, Labor-Reform, and other impracticables, has come short of the vote expected to be cast for him. Butler is elected from the Seventh District by a majority of about 1,500 over Tarbox, Democrat, and Hoar, Independent. Loring, Republican, is elected in the Sixth, over Thompson, who defeated Butler two years ago. Gen. Banks is claimed as a Republican. The greatest surprise in the congressional districts is here in Boston, where the Democrats have carried both the Third and Fourth, Benjamin Dean defeating Walbridge A. Field, an excellent man, in the Third District, formerly represented by Henry L. Pierce, by a majority of over 43: and Leopold Morse defeating Mr. Frost, who was unscated by the present House, which admitted Judge Abbott, the contestant. All the other Republicans are elected, including ex-Gev. Clayton in the Ninth, Amasa Norcross in the Tenth, and George D. Robinson in the Eleventh. This is a gain of three Congressmen, counting Presidents Seelye and Banks of the present Congress who were elected as Independents or Republicans.

counting Presidents Seelye and Banks of the present Congress who were elected as Independents or Republicans.

THE CITY OF SOSTON has gone Democratic, giving Tilden 3,502 majority, and C. F. Adams a plurality of 4,189 over Rice for Governor and a majority over both Rice and Baker of 2,745. The Boston members of the Legislature stand 27 Democrats to 20 Republicans, but the Legislature is unquestionably Republican by a good majority. Whether it is anti-Boutwell Republican is not yet clear. Bostox, Nov. 7.—The Legislature stands 166 Republicans, 48 Democrats, 1 Prohibitionist. Twenty-five Districts (which send twenty-seven Representatives) to be heard from. Latest estimates gives Hayes 35,000.

MICHIGAN.

SEVEN REPUBLICAN CONGRESSMEN.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

DETROIT, Nov. 8—1:30 a. un.—The Republicans here have elected part of their county ticket. The city ticket is still uncertain. In the State at large the Republican majority will be about 10,000 to 15,000. The Legislature is Republican in both branches, and seven out of the nine Congressmen were elected by the Republicans.

nine Congressmen were elected by the Republicans.

New York, Nov. 7.—New Jersey is still in doubt, with the chances strongly that it will go Democratic. The Democrats have made several gains in the Assembly. Passaic County, which was relied upon to give a large majority for Hayes and the Congressmen, is very close, and Cutier is probably re-elected to Congress.

BRANCH COUNTY.

Special Dispatch to The Tribune.

COLDWATER, Mich., Nov. 7.—This county will give a Republicam majority for Hayes and the State ticket of 1,500. Returns from nine towns and forty-one wards show a majority for Hayes of 1,000. McGowan, Representative for Congress from the Third District, has 510 majority, and his majority in the county will be elected, and two Representatives to the Legister.

se elected, and two Representatives to the Leglingure.

TROIT, Mich., Nov. 7.—Returns from fifteen townships give Hayes a net Republican majority of 3,03 bemocratic gain, 4,702 as compared with the blass 1872. The same towns gave Crosswell, Republican, for Governor, a net majority of 1,218.

OTTA: COUNTY.

GRAND RAPIDS, Nov. 1.—The entire Republican county teket is elected by nearly 1,000 majority, with arge gains eresywhere; Spring Lake, 48; Crockery, 73; Allendale, 100; Wright, 10; Polk, 125; Holland City and Zeetand, shout 100 each; Grand Haven City, Tilden, 100; township, 36.

W.SHTENAW COUNTY.

Nestreman Haven City, Tilden, 100; township, 36.

WISHTENAW COUNTY
Special Dispatch to The Pribuna.

ANN ARBOR Milch., Nov. 8—1 a.m.—This city gives Haye 775; Tilden, 628. Serven townships in the county heard from give Bayes 1,141; Tilden, 1,471. Although Haves meagrest gains over the last vote, Washtenaw County will go Democratic by a small majority. For Governor, Crosswell, Republican, gets 2,048, and Welber 2,171. In the towns heard from, Willett, for Congress, gets 1,941, and Robinson 2,111. Wheeler, Republican State Senator, 1,939; Burleigh, 2,180.

OHIO.

SEVERAL TOWNS.

Special Disaptch to The Tribune.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—The following are complete: Middleport, Meigs County, Republican majority, 349; Pomeroy, Meigs County, Republican majority, $8; Mansfield, Richland County, Democratic majority, 133; Gallipolis, Galis County, Republican majority, 231.

ONE-THIRD OF THE STATE.

COLUMNUS, O., NOV. 8—1:36 a. m.—One-third of Ohio has been heard from Hayes' gain 1,172. Cleveland, complete, Hayes' majority 2,588. Gen. Wikloff, Chairman of the State Central Committee, concedes the election to Tilden, basing his opinion on dispatches from New York to the effect that the Herald, Times, and Tribungadmit Hayes' defeat.

NEBRASKA.

PROM THE CAPITAL

Special Disputch to The Tribune.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 7.—Returns from the State come in slowly. Indications are that Haves has a majority of about 13,000. Lancaster County gives 800 Republican majority, Lincoln City 375 to 400 majority. Of the six members of the Legislature from Lancaster County five are Republicans and one Democratic. Beatrice gives 254 Republican; 100 Democratic; 30 Greenback.
Crete gives 193 Republican; 86 Democratic; 26

Republican majority of 148.

ESTIMATES.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 7.—Additional returns from seven precinets in different counties show a Republican majority of 755. Lancaster County goes Republican on the entire State ticket from 800 to 1,000 majority. Prominent well-informed Democrats and Republicans concede the State to the Republicans with reduced majorities. None but the most sanguine Republicans claim the usual majority of 10,000 to 12,000.

MINNESOTA.

CONGRESSMEN.

Special Dispatch to The Tribuse.

St. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 8—2 a. m.—Republican estimates on returns to 13:30 make Hayes' majority in the State 15,000; Congress. Dunnell's majority 11,000; Strait's plurality 1,500; Stewart's majority 3,000—all Republican. These estimates are conceded by well-informed Democrats to be moderate.

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS.

crats to be moderate.

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS.

St. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 7—3 a. m.—Returns are still far from complete, but enough is known to insure the election of the three Republican Congressmen by a majority of from 1,000 to 3,500.

The Legislature is also undoubtedly Republican, and the majority on the Electoral ticket will at least be 10,000.

MISSOURI.

MISSOURI.

PROBS.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8—1 a. m.—Returns are being counted so slowly that scarcely an approximate result of the election in this city can be given. At this writing (1 a. m.) about one-half of the precincts of the city give Thomas, Republican, for Sheriff, 11,073; Brown, Democrat, 10,098; Thomas ran ahead of his ticket. His vote, therefore, does not indicate a Republican victory. The county ticket will probably be divided, but indications are that the Democrats will get a much larger portion of it. In the First Congressional District Anthony Itner has no doubt beaten E. H. Kehr, the present incumbent. In the Second District, indications are that Eristus Wells, Democrat, the present member, has defeated E. W. Slayback, Democrat, and Nathan Cole. The Third District is doubtful at this writing, but the chances favor R. G. Floss, Democrat. Tilden's majority in the city can't be stated now, but will probably be 2,000.

St. Louis, Nov. 8.—Forty-eight precincts in the State outside of St. Louis County give Tilden 8,698; Hayes, 4,776. Twenty-nine precincts give Phelps. Democrat, for Governor, 4,640; Finkelnburg, 3,030.

MISSISSIPPI.

Jackson, Miss., Nov. 7.—Returns from various points indicate that the State has gone Democratic by a largely-increased majority over the last election. Five Congressmen are certainly elected by the Democrats, with a strong probability that they elect six. The election passed off very peaceably. No disturbances reported. The Democratic majority in the State will probably reach 50,000.

KANSAS.

KANSAS.

LAWBENCE, Kan., Nov., 7.—No city or county returns yet completed. There are indications, however, of a sweeping Republican victory on the County, State, and National tickets.

Haskell, Republican, for Congress in the Second District, gets a splendid majority. A full vote was poiled, and all is quiet.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., Nov. 8.—This city gives Hayes 212 majority. Anthony, Republican, for Governor, 105 majority; Haskell, Republican, for Congress, 117 majority.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 8.—Shawnee County gives Hayes 1,500 majority. Anthony, Republican, for Governor, 1,000 majority; Ryan, Republican, for Congress, 1,700 majority.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 7.—The First Ward of this city gives Hayes 365; Tidden, 278 Martin, Democrat, for Governor, 368; Anthony, ward of this city gives haves soo; fluen, 240 Martin, Democrat, for Governor, 388; Anthony, Republican, 261; Fenton, Democrat, for Congress, 319; Phillips, Republican, 300.

The Fourth Ward gives Tilden 187 majority; Martin, 293 majority; Fenton, 254 majority.

VIRGINIA. RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—Almost every section of the State indicates that Tilden is gaining steadily. He will carry the State by a largely-increased majority over any previous election. Goode's election is now undoubted. If Hunter is elected in the Second District the entire Congressional delegation will be Democratic.

SOUTH CAROLINA. WILMINGTON, N. C., Nov. 7.—Latest returns continue to show Democratic gains. The State is certainly Democratic by a large majority.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 7.—Heavy Democratic gains are reported from all quarters from which returns have been received. There is no longer any doubt that the Democrats have carried the State. The Republicans concede it. The Democrats probably elect seven out of eight Congressmen.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 7.—The Democrats have certainly elected Evens in the Fourth, and Aiken in the Third District, to Congress.

The State is probably carried for Hampton and for Tilden by a small majority, but both sides still claim it.

Charleston City gives Hampton a majority, and the result in the State depends upon the vote of Charleston County, which cannot be ascertained until to-morrow morning.

NEW JERSEY.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 7.—This State has gone Democratic by probably 15,000 majority. The Republicans elect three out of the seven Con-Republicans elect three out of the seven Congressmen, a gain of one.

The State Senate is yet in doubt, but is probably Republican. The House of Assembly is Democratic by 7 or 8 majority.

The Congressmen elected are: First District, Clement H. Sinnickson, Republican; Second, Dr. Howard Pugh, Republican; Third, Miles Ross, Democrat; Fourth, Alva H. Clark, Democrat; Fifth, Augustus W. Cutler, Democrat; Sixth, Thomas B. Peddie, Ropublican; Seventh, Augustus A. Hardenburgh, Democrat. Republicans, 3; Democrats, 4.

RHODE ISLAND. PIVE THOUSAND FOR HAYES.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 7.—Partial returns from all parts of the State show that Hayes will have from 5,000 to 6,000 majority.
Eames and Ballou, Republican Congressmen, are both re-elected.

MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 7.—Sufficient returns have been received from the several counties the anghout the State to show that the Democrats are elected the entire Congressional delegation, and control of the State on the Presidential vote by a large majority.

At the Democratic headwarters the majority for Tilden is estimated at 18,000.

WEST VIRGINIA. THE STATE DESOCRATIC.

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. ?—Ohio County gives about 500 majority for Tilden. Outside the county is not official, but gives about the same Democratic majority as in October.

TENNESSEE. NASHVILLE, Terim., Nov. 7.—The election was quiet in all parts of the State. No doubt of the election of Porter, Democrat, for Governor, and certainly eight out of ten Congressmen by the Democrats. KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Ry., Nov. 7.—Gen. Bristow voted to-day for Hayes and Wheeler, but scratched Walter Evans, Republican candidate for Congress from this district, who is a strong Granman.

TEXAS.

TEXAS.

Galveston, Tex., Nov. 7.—The Democratic majority in Texas will probably exceed 75,000. Giddings, regular Democrat, has 1,903 majority in the city, which probably secures his election, and returns a full Democratic delegation to Congress from this city.

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—11:30 p. m.—Returns from 508 townships and wards in Ohio whow a net Republican gain of 177 over 1875 when Hayes' majority was 5,544.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 8—1 a. m.—The election in this city passed off very quictly, the vote polled being larger by 100 than in October. Seventeen rards and townships in Lucas County give Tayes a net gain of 369 over Barnes last month.

PENNSYLVANIA.

ntgomery County is estimated at occatic majority, a gain of 725.

CALIFORNIA.

THE THREE PACIFIC STATES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—The State wi probably give a Republican majority of 5,000.

A dispatch from Virginia City to the Democratic State Central Committee concedes the State to the Republicans by 800 majority.

A Portland dispatch says the Republican claim Oregon by 500 majority.

DELAWARE. DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 .- Newcastle County, Delaware, gives a Democratic majority of 700.
Returns from other portions of the State indicate a Democratic majority of 2,500.

CONNECTICUT. EARTPORD, Conn., Nev. 7.—One hundred and thirty-eight out of 167 towns give Hayes 50,922; Tilden, 55,606; Robinson, 52,302; Hubbard, 55,568; majority for Tilden, 4,684; for Hubbard, 3,266.

WYOMING. REPUBLICAN DELEGATE ELECTED.
CHEVENNE, Wyo., Nov. 7.—Returns from all out a few precincts indicate the election of W. W. Corlett, Republican, for Delegate, by 700

GEORGIA. AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—Nothing further from Florida. The election will be close. Both sides claim the State.

NEW HAMPSHIRE. CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7.—The State is Republican by about 3,000.
